Preservation

Hey, what are you doing, at this very moment? Does it matter? Maybe not, at this point, but after you graduate and enter the adult world, it will. You will look back at your teenage years, and think of all the good times that you had, and how, at the time, you took everything that happened for granted. True, now we do take things that happen for granted, but later in life we will look back and realize that we should enjoy life as it comes, and take advantage of opportunities, AND DEFINITELY, don't take things that happen around you for granted. Supposedly these are the best years of our lives, and we should make the most of them. Time goes by too fast, don't let these high school years pass you by, without getting a chance to enjoy them.

Later in life, we will try to remember some of the experiences that we had as teenagers. Hey guys, you might think of the days when you wore dresses and high heel pumps to school, and girls, what about those shirts and ties?! Times like these, we let pass by, without thinking. The yearbook preserves some of these memories. Maybe someday, you'll glance into the mirror and laugh, "I don't believe that we did that," or "Just look at what I was wearing." So hey, let's face it! We're gonna miss high school at Kearny, and the yearbook is going to be one of the best records of your high school happenings.

◀▲ HANGIN' OUT after school, is a familiar site to everyone here at Kearny.

◀ HEY, HEY! What's goin' on here?!? Paul Hicks and David Castillo seem to have no clues.

Reminiscing

The year is 2008, and you've just received an invitation to your class reunion. You laugh, as you flashback on the days, that ranged from mid-terms to prom night. You remember what was considered "in", but that was twenty years ago, and your memory begins to fade. You decide to yourself, that you can't wait until the reunion to reminisce, so instinctively you begin to search for, and dig out your high school yearbook. Aha, here it is, right where you left it, back in June 1988, back in a corner somewhere, lying untouched for who knows how long. As you sit down and flip through its pages, you begin to feel as though you are back in high school.

Noticing familiar faces, you start to say to yourself, "I wonder what ever happened to . . . ?" On some of the pages there are messages from friends that inspired you, and on others there were just remarks left to fill space. The really funny times stand out in your mind. You decide to read a few of the messages, and eventually, you end up reading nearly all of them. Then you stop and think to yourself, "I wonder how many people have received this invitation, and how many of them are doing the exact same thing that I am?" Now, you are more anxious than ever, to discover what has happened to all of your old friends back at Kearny. Before you return the annual to its dusty home, in the attic, or in the back of your closet, you can't help but look to see what "you" looked like back then. After a quick glance at your mug shot, you begin to think about what you were doing that year, your senior year. These are just some Reflections of Those Golden Moments.

United as One

Teachers playing duck, duck, goose? Students wrapping themselves in toilet paper? NO WAY!!! Strange as it may seem, it happened on this special day.

It was the first annual KEARNY FEST with many interactions between students and teachers, such as: Flag Football, Balloon Pop, Duck, Duck, Goose, Tug of War, and even a toilet paper wrap.

The ASB, under the direction of Mrs. Mullen and Holly Bell, came up with the idea hoping for great success. They worked throughout the summer to plan an activity to bring students and staff members together and to meet new people.

"We, (the ASB), were hoping to achieve school unity, and we feel that it was a great success," commented ASB President Holly Bell.

Everyone joined in the fun, including the new principal, Dr. Tafoya. "The object of the Fest was to start off the school year with a feeling of community. As long as I am principal here, I plan on keeping the tradition."

◀ KEEPIN' THE BEAT, Jenell Straton, Ricky Morton, Karen Hicks, and Saun Ramano dance to the sounds of D.J. Rudy Malinao.

In A Rush

Burritos, Burgers, Yogurt, or Pizza? What will it be? This is a decision made daily by students from 12:04 to 12:40. Some choose to brown bag it, others go to the "express cart", and some prefer fast food.

Lunch is a time to sit and relax and get a break from the hectic school day. Many use it to catch up on missed homework. Others prefer to talk with their friends about the latest gossip.

There will always be something to look forward to in the day as long as we have lunch.

▶▼ RELAXING ON THE GRASS, Josue Estrada, Gustavo Valenzuela, and Jorge Lopez lounge around during their lunch hour.

▼ EATING LUNCH IN FRONT OF SCHOOL, Jon Nelson, Robert Motl, and Bill Ewert have a friendly conversation.

What's Hot? What's Not?

"Look at that dress!" "What a cute outfit." "I wish I had clothes like that!" These were statements heard quite often on campus about different fashions.

The most popular colors for clothes were earth tones; tan, olive green, grey, and peach. These were seen wherever you looked.

There was a new style for hair seen quite often. Boys cut their hair into a step in the back. Girls most often had their hair fluffed out on the sides.

Some people chose to make fashion statements by having different colored hair such as green and pink.

Acid wash jeans were very fashionable. Though they cost a little more, people seemed to be able to gather their money together to buy the jeans.

Lace-up boots were also in style, along with friendship bracelets and assorted earings.

Though fashions change from year to year, no matter what the price, students will always find a way to be "In Style."

▼ HOOP AND ANIMAL EARINGS are very hip with students for the ears.

▶ LACE-UP BOOTS of every color top the fashion for the feet.

◀ THE FASHION STATEMENT in do's for guys is a step in the back of the hair.

▲ ACID WASH JEANS are popular for both boys and girls.

◀ LONG SKIRTS AND BUTTON DOWN SHIRTS, displayed by Eileen Galbraith, are worn in earth tones and other colors.

▶ THE MOST POPULAR FAD on campus is clothing with the KEARNY logo.

▼ DRAKKAR, GIORGIO, AND MUSK are the top contenders for favorite perfume.

▶ McDONALDS is the favorite overall fast-food restaurant.

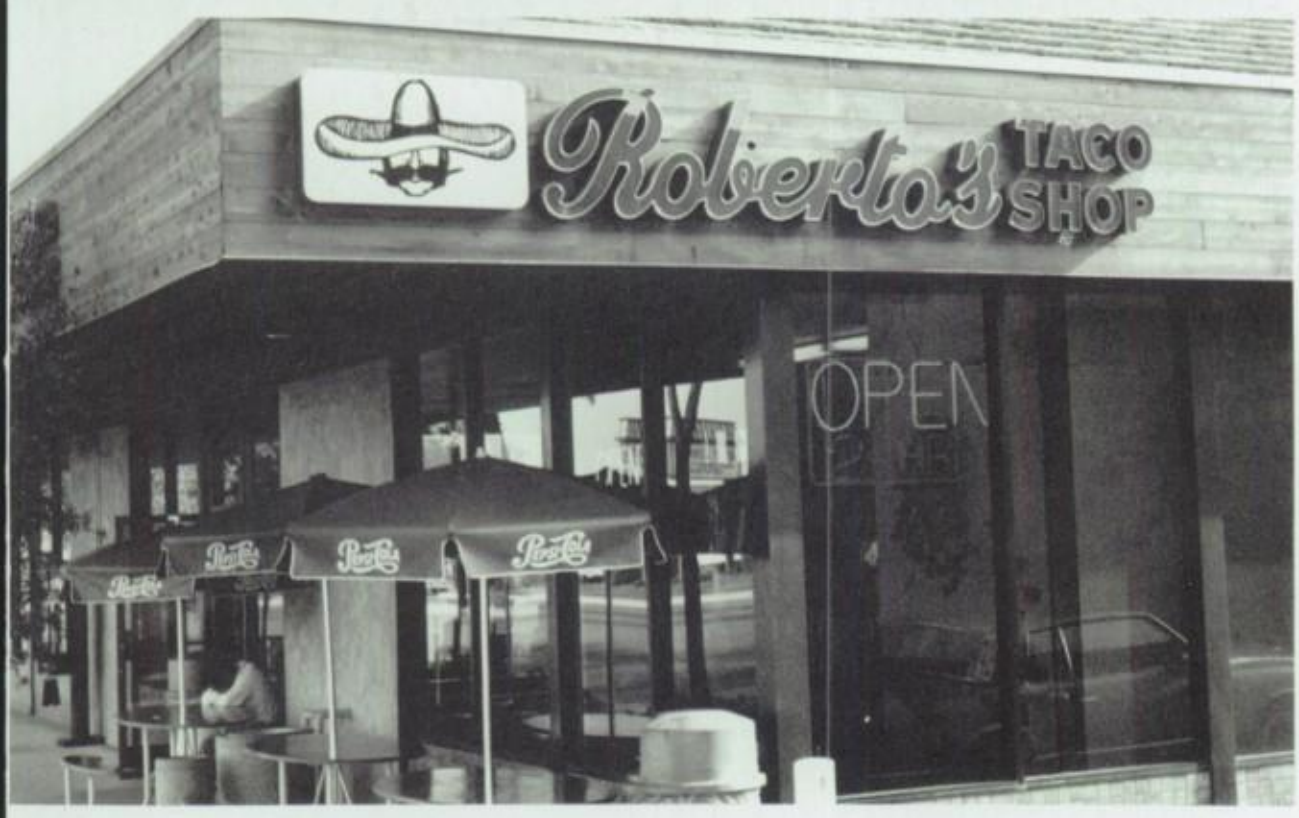
▼ THIS FAMILIAR SPOT, La Jolla Shores, still remains the favorite beach, even on a cloudy day.

A Flash in Time

Fads have changed over the years, and some have even come back in style. It seems that as soon as a new fad comes along, it starts to fade away.

But never fear, what you like today may fade away, but maybe, just maybe, your children will end up liking the same things and it will rekindle a "fad" from the past.

In the 50's, kids were surfing, cruising their hot cars, hanging out at their favorite restaurant, or taking that special someone to somewhere romantic, (also known as inspiration point). Today, many of those still remain the same, along with hanging out at the mall, going to the movies with friends, and going to fun centers.



◀ CLOSE, BUT NOT QUITE, Roberto's is rated as Number 2 on the list of favorite places to eat.

Hear Ye, Hear Ye!

It was the Friday before the Homecoming Dance. Half-time of the big game was close at hand. The three opponents for King and Queen were anxiously awaiting the big decision. At last the gun went off. "And the winner is . . . Karla Estrada and Eric Mercado."

Every year the competition for Homecoming King and Queen is very tight. In each contestant's heart there is a hope that they will be the winner. Though many people feel it is an honor just to be nominated, the two losing couples are usually disappointed.

This year was no exception. The race was very close, but the final winners, Karla and Eric, came as no surprise. The two were also Prince and Princess in their Junior year.

Reaching the top of the homecoming court is not always easy. Each person has to campaign for a nomination, and then hope that they get elected. When the three attendants are chosen at the pep rally, they have to wait even longer to find out who the winner will be. It is all worth it in the end though. The feeling of being crowned Queen of the Homecoming court makes all the waiting worth it.

As long as there is high school, there will be homecoming. Each year, one lucky girl and boy will reach their dream, being crowned as King and Queen.

▲ SENIORS MIKE DOOLITTLE AND SUSAN ARAGAKI receive the title of Second Attendants to the King and Queen.

▲ WINNING THE JUNIOR COMPETITION James Watts and Sofia Gomez are the new Prince and Princess.

◀ POSING IN THE LOBBY OF THE SAN DIEGO HOTEL, the Homecoming Court awaits the big dance.

▼ CROWNED WITH THE TITLE KING AND QUEEN, Eric Mercado and Karla Estrada are the winners.

▼ COMING VERY CLOSE TO RECEIVING THE CROWN, Mitchell Huhem and Stacy Hicks are the First Attendants to the King and Queen.

The Royal Dance

A romantic dinner for two at a nice, quiet restaurant. Dinner with a group of friends, laughing, talking happily about the big night ahead. Then, off to the big dance. What dance you ask. Why, it's HOMECOMING!!

The masquerade homecoming dance was held at the San Diego Hotel in downtown. Those who attended the dance enjoyed the evening. Many were dressed quite nicely, some preferred the more casual look.

There were many things going on at the dance to keep spirits high besides just dancing. There was a mask contest, where students competed against each other to see who had the best mask. Photographers were available to take pictures of you and that special someone, or with friends, for those special memories. All in all, the dance was a big success, with everyone enjoying themselves and being with their friends on that special night.

We've Got Komet Pride

It was the Friday before the big homecoming game. The ASB wanted to finish off spirit week with a big event. It was the perfect day for a pep rally.

Every year the school has pep rallies to boost the spirit of the school and help the football team know that their school supports them.

The pep rally was full of fun and exciting games such as a banana toss, a scavenger hunt, and a bubble gum blowing contest.

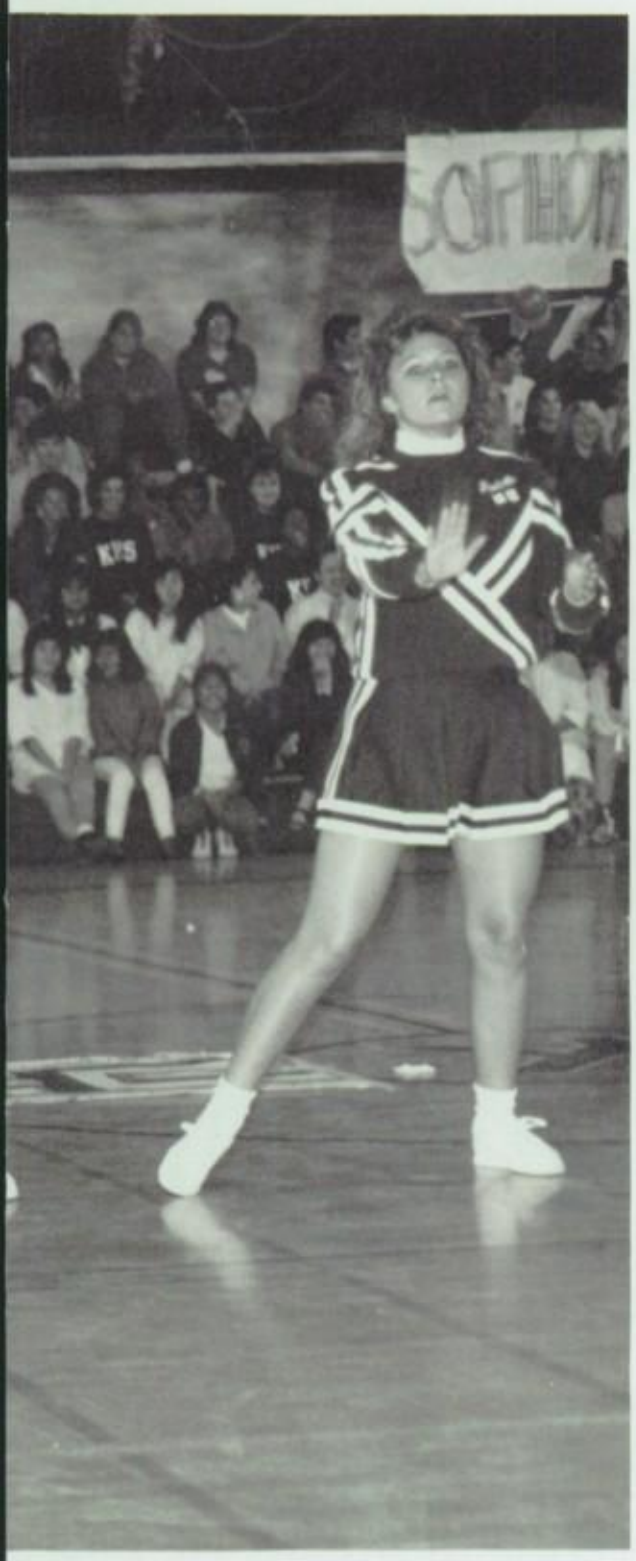
The pep club showed their support of the football team by calling them up individually and giving them flowers. The cheerleaders entertained by dancing and cheering.

It was the perfect boost to the spirits of everyone who participated. The football players appreciated the support of everyone. With the hard work of the ASB and the participation of the students and staff, the pep rally was a great success.

◀ ATTEMPTING TO GIVE a win to the juniors Teda Xaygnavong tries her best to blow a bubble.

▼ SHOWING THEIR SPIRIT Cecil Austin and Tee Pettaway search for the next item of the scavenger hunt.

▶ HOPING SHE WILL NOT DROP IT, Alicia Richards carefully grasps a banana in the banana toss.



▲ VARSITY FOOTBALL PLAYER Danny Johnson receives flowers from the pep club as a good luck sign for the big game.

◀ COMBINING CHEERING AND DANCING, Robin Hollie, Jenell Stratton, Antoinette Bejarano, and Paulette Ross entertain at the pep rally.

◀ TALKING ABOUT A BIG SALE over the phone, Robyn Miculich suggests the perfect sale item at Fashion Conspiracies latest prices.

▶ THE LATEST FAST FOOD DRIVE THROUGH, Rally's employs Kearny students like Eric Melkerson.

▼ TESTING BLOOD IN THE LAB, Michael Swiderski and George Dinkins work with the SMAC machine at Sharp Hospital.

▲ TARGET IS A MAJOR EMPLOYER of high school students such as Kathy McMann, Chris McMann, Maiko Rogers, and Lisa Sibley.

▶ SHOWING THAT WORK CAN ALSO BE FUN, Erika Lane, Melinda Butler, and Jay French enjoy their jobs at the Fun Center.

It All Pay$ Off

It's 6:00 A.M. Time to get up and get ready for the long day ahead. It's the same thing every day . . .

You say to yourself — Gosh, I wish it were Friday!! But, since it isn't, you drag yourself out of bed, and prepare yourself for your day . . .

Finally, the bell rings, signaling that 7th period is over. HOORAY!! School is over for the day, but you can't go home and relax yet. You have to go to work!!

Many of the students know this story all too well. It's rough to go to school, maintain good grades, and hold down a part-time job on top of it. Keeping their "cool cars", paying for insurance, saving up for college, and having spending money is motivation enough for having a job. Being out in the work field experiencing a touch of the "real world" is part of students preparing and being better trained for their future. It may be rough now, but in the end It All Pay$ Off.

Crazy Daze

"Did I really see that? That guy was wearing a dress!" This was a common phrase during spirit week. The ASB put together six days of fun and folly to boost the spirit of the school.

Halloween dress up day kicked off the week. It was a chance for students to dress however they pleased without being laughed at. Hat day and mismatch day were also good for boosting spirits.

One of the most successful activities was opposite sex day. This was the day that guys dressed up like girls and girls dressed up like guys. Many students participated and the rest enjoyed looking at the silly outfits.

A journey to the past was shown on 50's Day. Even teachers participated, wearing outfits from their school days.

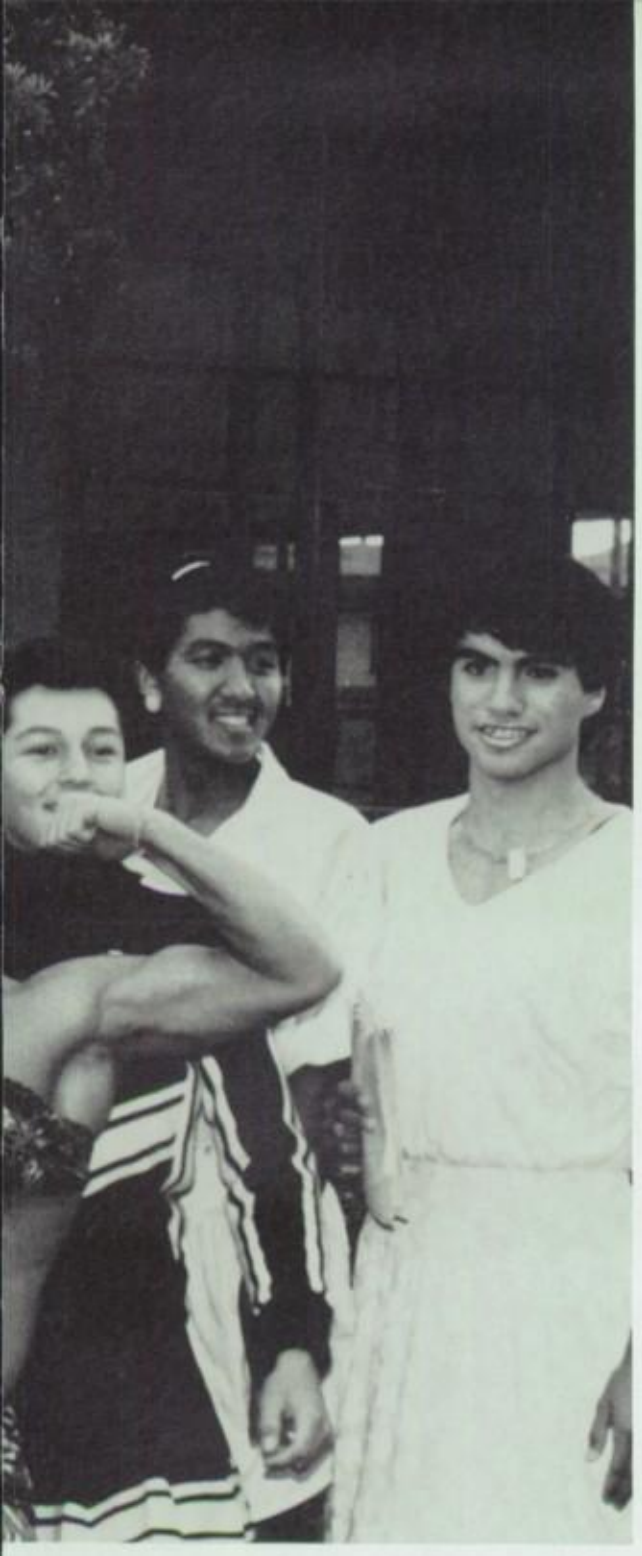
Lunch-time activities occurred every day of spirit week. Both teachers and students participated together in activities such as a pudding feed, a root beer guzzle, a dress your partner contest, and a 50's Day Dance contest.

Spirit Day concluded the week. Maroon and white was worn and students did their best to show how much spirit they had.

The lunch-time pep rally on Spirit Day was a great success and led up to a victory at the homecoming game that night.

Spirit Week will always help to build school spirit and unity. The event lived up to it's name. It was truly six "Crazy Days."

▶ CREATIVELY DISGUISING THEMSELVES for Halloween, June Nguyen and Vu Bui take part in Costume Day.



◀ DISPLAYING THE FEMININE SIDE of their character, these guys pose for the camera on Opposite Sex Day.

▶ SLIPPING THE SWEATSHIRT over Josue Estrada's head, Chris McMann demonstrates the Dress Your Partner Game.

▼ SORRY, I'M SORT OF "WRAPPED UP" at the moment! Eric Rose competes in the Santa Wrap during Christmas Spirit Week, with Tom Wainman.

▲ HOW LOW CAN YOU GO? Coach Barnett can go pretty low, with the help of a cart and Jon Williams.

Ho!

Ho!

Ho!

It's that time of the year again. Exchanging presents with friends and family, putting up the Christmas tree and decorating it. A big feast on Christmas day. And best of all, 2 WEEKS OFF FROM SCHOOL.

To keep spirits high during the week before vacation, there was a Winter Spirit Week. The ASB planned fun days for the week such as Bell Day, Santa Hat Day, Red and Green Day, and Scarf Day. Many lunch time activities were also scheduled but were cancelled due to the Winter rain. The ASB also sold mistletoe, and DECA sold holiday candy and cookie trays for special holiday gifts. At the end of the week, on Friday night, there was a Christmas dance, and you could take your picture with Santa himself. Spirits were high as the students waited with anticipation for the long awaited Winter Vacation.

The winter activities kept all in the spirit of the holidays, until all could go home and relax, and enjoy all there is to enjoy of the Christmas season.

The Cream of the Crop

"Did you hear that song on the radio?" "Yeah, it was great. It's going to be a hit for sure." Each year, there are certain songs, styles, shows and stations that seem to stick in everyone's mind as the best. That special song, that gorgeous man or woman, make your life a little more enjoyable.

Everyone likes to turn on their favorite television show when they get home from school to relieve some of the pressures of the hectic school day. Moonlighting topped the charts this year. With Bruce Willis and Cybil Shepard in the leading roles, what show wouldn't be a success. The Cosby Show was a favorite once again, along with a new, modern show called Alf.

Reaching the peak of favorite actor was Tom Cruise, followed close behind by Bruce Willis. Molly Ringwald gave a repeat performance as top actress. Their movies, shows and good looks made them favorites around the school.

When the television isn't on, many turn to the radio. There were many popular stations playing the tunes of the latest, compact disc players. LL Cool J, Whitesnake, and U2 were requested the most as top groups.

Everyone has a favorite thing that they like to do to relieve tensions and enjoy life. Many people have the same interests. As each common interest grows in popularity, a few groups or people stand out above the rest. These are the top entertainers, the "Cream of the Crop."

"Hey!! Turn around!! (CLICK!!) Don't tell me you just took my picture! Yep, I sure did! (ha! ha!) Yes, it's true. Just when you least expect it. You turn around and FLASH, someone takes your picture. Many were caught by surprise around campus while going about their everyday activities, rushing to class, joking with friends, just the usual, everyday things. Some probably wish they wouldn't get caught by the camera, others can't wait to get their picture taken. But, whether you like it or not, if you have not already been caught, look out, you may be Caught Off Guard.

▲ JUMPING FOR JOY, Samantha Kim is caught by her friends Lupe Cesena and Florine Pulu.

Coming and Going

You're finally ready for school. You think, good, maybe I will be on time today. Then you check the clock to see what time it is. Oh no!! It's 7:53. Only 7 minutes left until school starts, and no one is home to give you a ride. Now what?? The car is out of gas and your bike has a flat. Well, it looks like it's time to run, and FAST!!!

No matter how, students found some sort of transportation to and from school each day. Whether it was walking, driving, catching a ride from a friend, or riding the trusty old bike or skateboard, most got to school on time, and found a way home as well. Their sources were not only used for school, but for sports events, dances, and getting to and from work. Whatever the reason, they were always Coming and Going.

▼ BETTER WATCH OUT!! If you do anything illegal in your form of transportation, you may get caught by the school police.

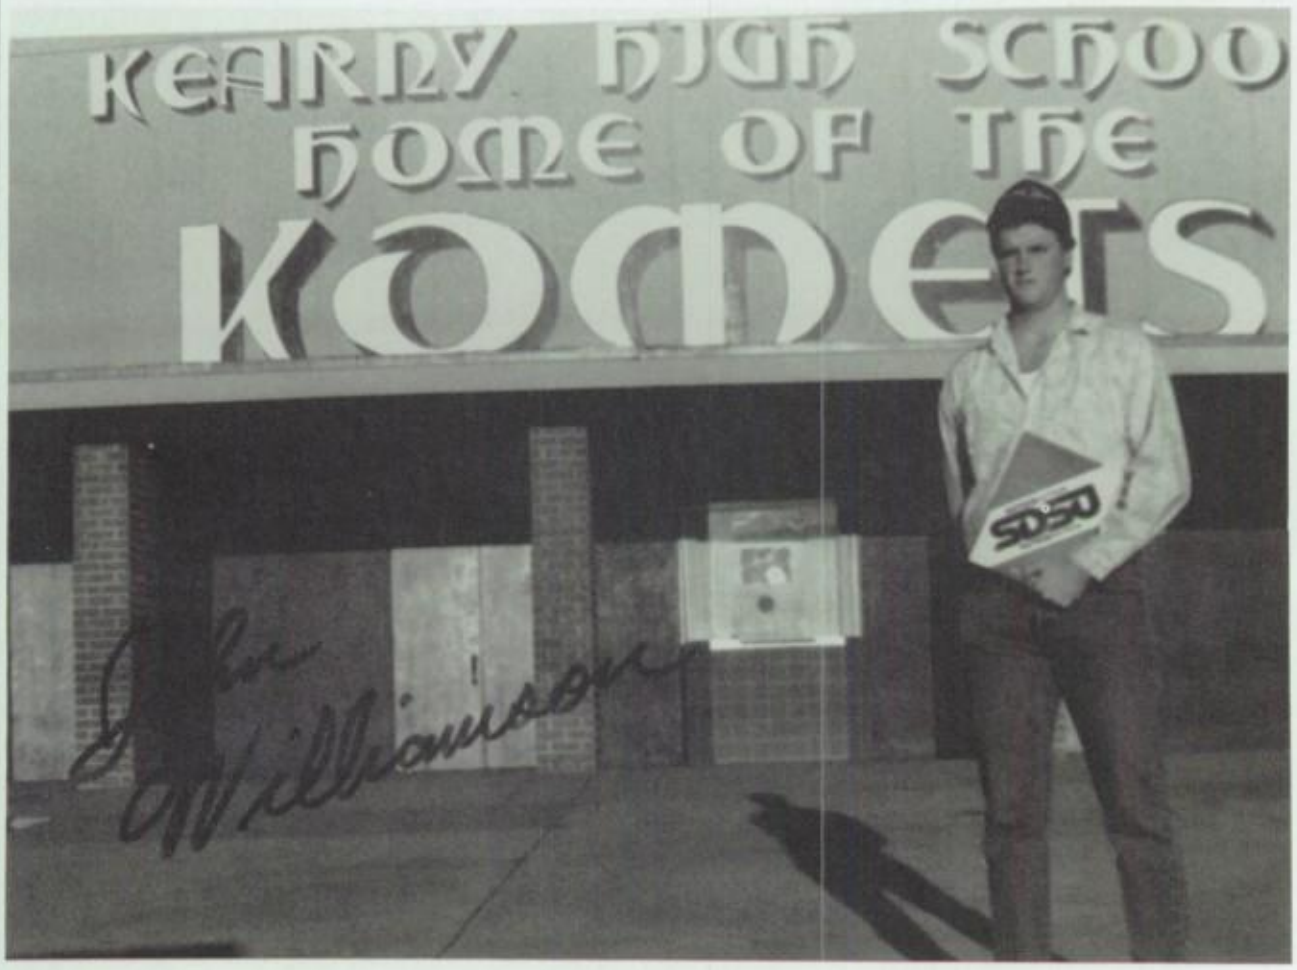
Flash Back

▼ GETTING READY FOR COLLEGE, John Williamson anxiously awaits his all-expense paid scholarship to San Diego State.



"Oh Yeah! I remember now. That's the year Mr. Baer retired." Everyone has flashbacks from past events. Big occasions always bring back memories from our high school years.

As we look through our yearbooks, we remember the funny antics that people did. We recall special events that brought the school together as a whole.

Some of us move on with special honors, like John Williamson and Randy Robinson. Both of these young men received full scholarships for athletics.

Two of our teachers moved on into retirement. Mr. Baer and Mrs. Broaded taught for many years. The knowledge they have passed on to their students is very valuable. Kearny says Thank You and good luck in your retirement.

School unity was greatly emphasized throughout the year. February's Brotherhood Week festivities added to this unification by bringing people of different cultures together.

As we look back on the year, we see that the good things outnumber the bad. With our new principal, Dr. Tafoya, our school faculty and students worked together more than ever. It is our hope that when we Flash Back to 1988, our memories will all be golden ones.

◀ HMONG DANCERS Vang Her, Mi Yang, and Kia Lee wear full costumes for their dance, Love Before and Now.

Images of the Past

1987, a year full of exciting events. The 200th anniversary of our Constitution, steps towards better relations with the Soviet Union and a world wide tour by Pope John Paul II, leader of the Catholic Church, are just a few of the highlights. 1988, a year with many important occasions to come. A Presidential election and the Winter and Summer Olympics will arrive before you know it.

Days go by and become weeks, weeks become months, months become years, and in a flash, a whole year has passed. Images of the past are easily forgotten, but there are always a few events that stay on everyone's minds.

The visit of Mikail Gorbachev to the United States was a step towards friendship and agreements with the United States that are unprecedented. Even this visit will soon fade from people's minds.

All occasions seem exciting and interesting at the time of their occurrence, but the excitement slowly decreases. The interest vanishes as if it were a fad. As you glance through a yearbook or an encyclopedia your memory is temporarily refreshed, but the events are once again forgotten. It is then that the year's events become images of the past.

"Hey, you're not cleared. Your parent didn't call in." These are the words we hear every time we are absent. The attendance staff keeps us informed if anything goes wrong. Our counselors help us with college preparation as soon as we enter the world of High School. It doesn't sound easy, however, we go through the procedures along with our opportunities from the Career Center. Receiving assistance from these important people gets rid of the problems. Well, part of the problems anyway.

Parking our precious cars in the parking lot isn't easy. However, knowing the security staff is always around makes us feel at ease. On the other hand, when we are caught ditching we wish they weren't there. But when your personal possessions are missing, you're glad that they are there. Articulation

"I" before "E" except after "C". Yeah, right! This rule applies most of the time, but not always. There are exceptions for just about every rule. Many people dread having to go to English class, but without it, they'd be in a heap of trouble. English skills are mandatory for most all jobs. In fact, the better you are at conversing and using your English as effectively and accurately as possible, the better off you'll be. You aren't going to hear a lawyer making $100,000 a year say, "I AIN'T be doin' none of that stuff." One's ability to use the English language properly and the ability to express ones self through words is a major dictator of what type of job one is able to obtain. If you go to a job interview talking like the lawyer mentioned, you'll probably not end up getting the job, unless maybe it's a ditch digging job. English is important, and mandatory . . . Pass it!

Calculations In Life

▼CONFUSING EVERYONE in the class, Mr. Carter attempts to make tonight's homework a little bit easier.

One plus two is three, with a little bit of studying, plus some hard work, anyone can ace a math class. It's funny how many people take math for granted. Most people use it everyday and virtually for any profession. For example if you go shopping, adding and subtracting comes in handy. Especially if you have a "cash problem."

As we step out into the real world, we need to prepare ourselves for any circumstances that we might encounter. We, as students, become more capable of doing things on our own, and eventually we find out what the real world is all about.

Math is one of our most important subjects. It is required to pass, even in college. That's why our parents and teachers are so demanding when it comes to education. It is up to us to decide how we, the future leaders of America, are to maintain and develop the financial and mathematical work of our forefathers.

I Wonder Why ?

Have you ever wondered why raindrops are round or how your digestive system works? Well, neither have we, but surely before we get out of school, we'll find out in one of our science classes. Whether it's biology, ecology or any other "-ology," we get to choose which of them we want to struggle through.

"O.K. class, wake up! We're going to have a popquiz on which chemicals can be seen under a microscope, in a snow storm, with the windows open, and the lights out. You have 10 minutes to write a brief 3-page essay, answering this question. Ready? Begin."

Does this sound familiar? Well, maybe a slight exaggeration, but none the less, science classes are needed for many occupations. If you are good in science and pursue it, you can pretty much insure yourself a good, and well paying job. Everyone should take a science class, who knows, you might be good at it.

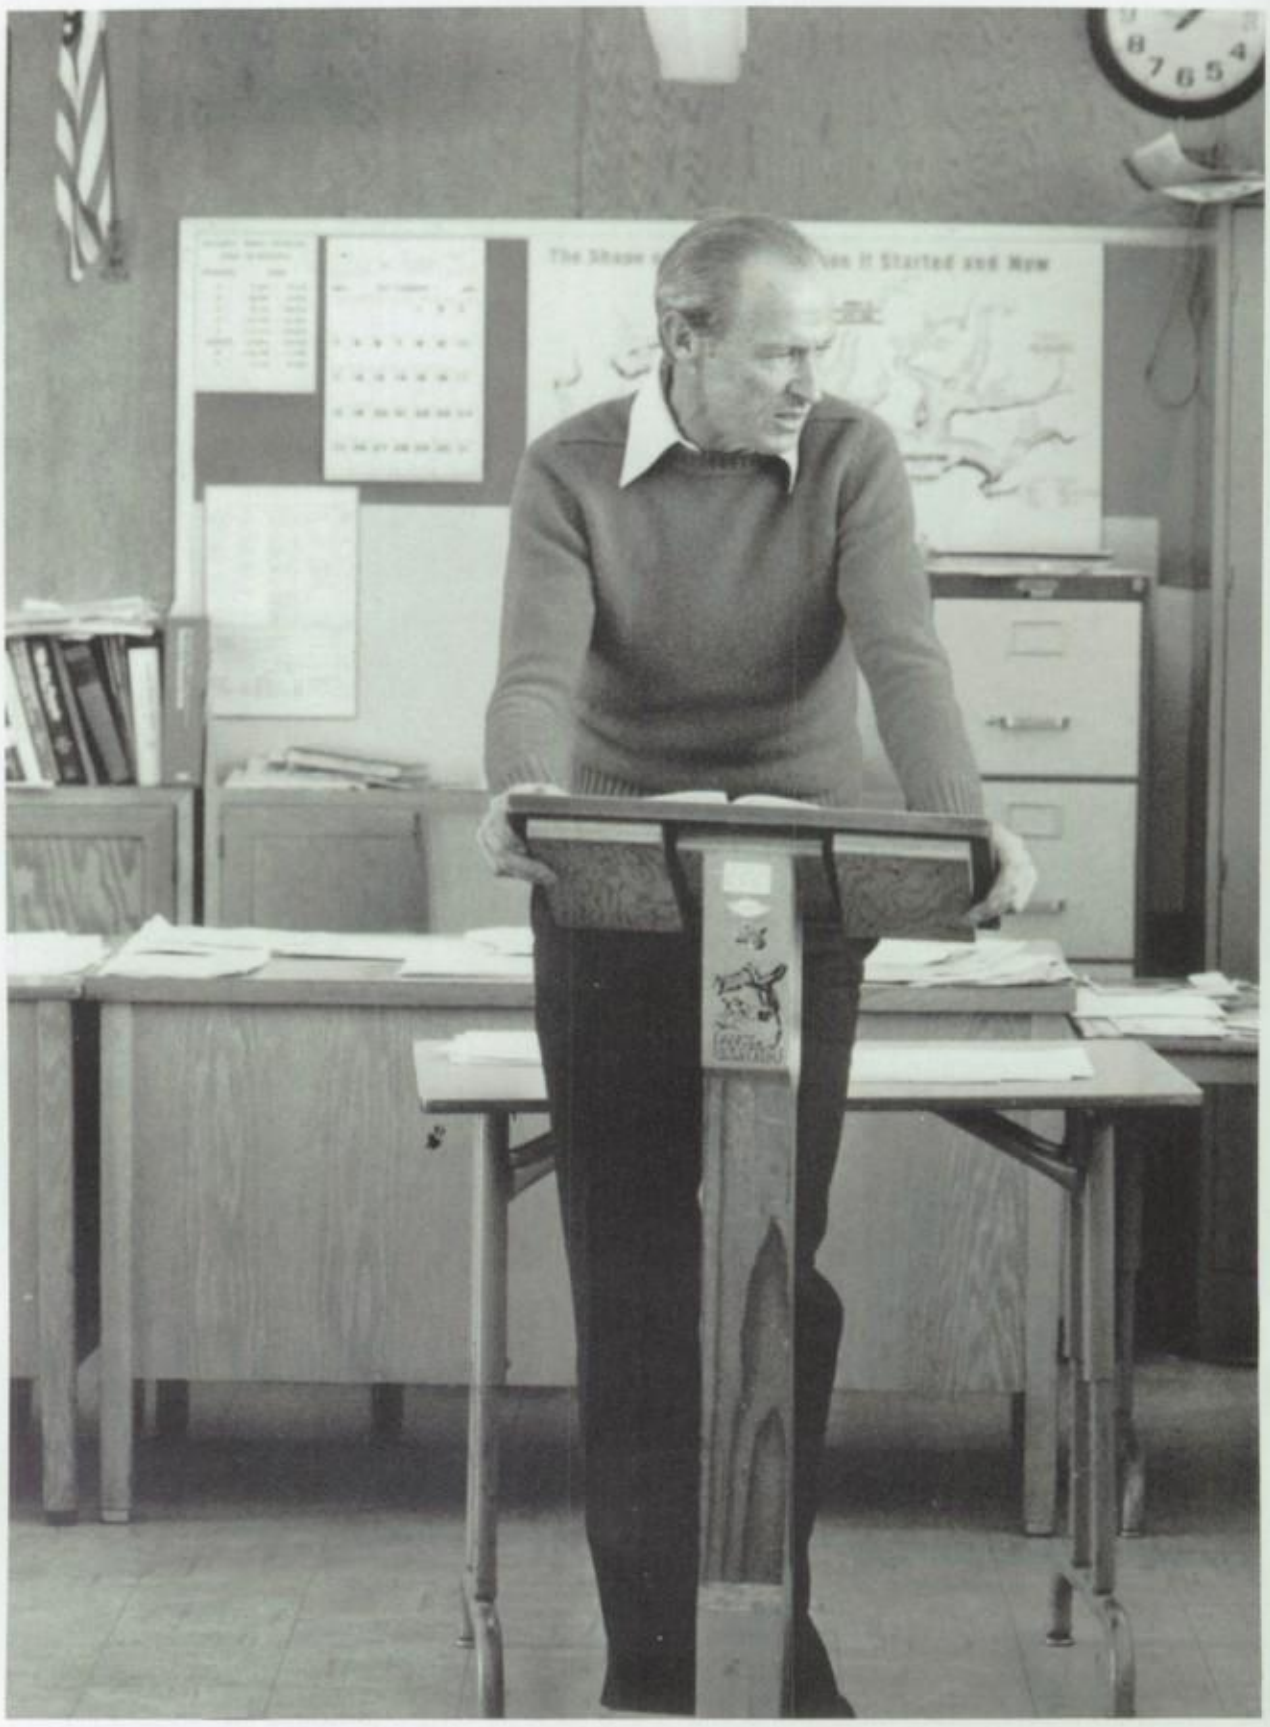
▼ REFLECTING on a student comment, Mr. Webster tries to expand on the issue.



Thinking of the past? History and politics are considered a major part of our lives. Starting from the middle ages up to today. We are still struggling to live through life with more changes and greater expectations. Whatever happened in the past becomes the most memorable reminder of our separate lives. Though through history, we gain the knowledge of a precious past, in return, politics and governments are formed for our benefit.

History is one of the most important aspects of our own lives. We use history to better ourselves and change our future for the sole benefit of each and every one of us. Using the opportunity to learn these advantages can bring us up on our own two feet, and face the world willingly. To better the decisions we have made in our own past . . .

"10 laps around the track and then hit the showers." Many students dread hearing these words in their Physical Education classes everyday, but it takes a lot of dedication to participate in a sport.

Sports have become a major part of many students' lives. Not only do they have to work hard at their sport, but they have to maintain good grades as well, to remain eligible. This balance is very hard for many students. Since playing sports is important to many, they work harder to improve their grades.

P.E. classes include everything from baseball to intramural racquetball. The coaching staff works everyone to their fullest potential. The sports teams have been improving along with the good coaching.

Whether it's a team sport, individual sport, or a normal P.E. class, almost every student looks forward to this class everyday.

Foreign - Exchange

▼ONE HAPPY COUPLE, Mr. Winans and Ms. Heaberlin take first prize in this year's costume contest.

Habla Espanol? Parleq vous Francaise? We hear these words everywhere. It is also required in order to go to universities. Speaking some foreign language can be a fun thing to do, however learning all the correct usages of it can be a pain in the you know where.

When we go out into the real world, we'll hear many more languages than simply, Spanish and French. Being bilingual can definitely be advantageous. You could help out a tourist taking pictures of the parking lot at Sea World. Or if you were ever in a foreign country, (Tijuana, for example) you could use your skills in trying to bargain with the natives.

Job opportunities are very abundant for those of us that are bilingual. Many job positions have bilinguality as a requirement. At least two years of the same foreign language is mandatory to graduate.

Training

"O.K. class . . . CLEAN UP!!!!" This familiar command is heard daily in virtually every Industrial Arts class, at the end of class, when the clean up bell rings.

Whether it's Graphic Arts or Auto Engine Rebuilding, it's all considered Industrial Arts. As the sparks fly and the paint brushes glide, the students enrolled in these classes are learning valuable skills as well as having fun.

Kearny is a magnet for Industrial Arts. Students as well as adults come from all over San Diego County to enroll and attend some of our R.O.P. courses. These R.O.P. classes provide on-the-job training for students. These vocational-type classes are valuable assets to students.

We should take advantage of these classes because most other schools don't offer these type of classes. If you have a chance to enroll in one do it!

Help Wanted

Need Help? If so, the teacher's aides are the people to see. There is a lot of help that is provided to us students. Not only from the teachers, but from the aides as well. There are also Special Education Assistants, who help and care for the handicapped students.

In the Math Lab and the Skills Lab, there are always people there to help us with any problems that we might have, well, at least almost any problems. For those of us that have difficulty understanding a certain subject, these helpers are a God-send. Sometimes we turn to these people more than we turn to the teachers for help and guidance. Some of these helpers are students themselves and they are especially understanding because they know how we feel. These people are here to help us and we appreciate them. Thanks!

Come and get it!!! With the inevitable roar of our lunch bell and a crowd of young starving people, our lunch hour has begun. There is an array of places to eat. Although, the food is horrid and the service is well, I won't say, everyone enjoys their lunch.

This is our quality time. It gives us students a chance to kick back and just relax. Also, spend time with our friends. The cafeteria holds many mysteries. Such as the people who work there. Many of the employees are warm, sweet, older women, but once outside — Look Out!!! The younger women are on top of things. Such as learning how to count and learning their change. And we mustn't forget the custodians. Those young men who keep, well, try to keep our school clean. So have a heart, don't litter, and don't give our cafeteria pupils a hard time. Because you never can tell what your future holds . . .

When all heads are turned to the parking lot, the students aren't looking at a bird or a plane, they are looking at Robyn Miculich's Cal Bug, and Tony Monteleone's Nissan Pulsar. Speeding the streets of San Diego, these two show off their cars with pride and dignity. The owners as well as their cars have real class.

Head's turn as Marcus Mitchell and Angie Rapalee walk by. As best dressed, everyone wants to know where they buy their clothes.

Angie likes to shop at Foxmoor and small out of the way boutiques. She likes to go to the boutiques so she can find original clothes. Her favorite colors for clothes are black and white.

Marcus shops at D.J.'s fashion center for men and the Broadway. When he doesn't feel like dressing fancy, he just throws on a pair of Guess jeans and a shirt to match.

Varsity Cheer

HOP, SKIP, AND A JUMP

Jumping, flipping, and performing death-defying stunts. No, it's not Evil Kenevil. It's the Varsity Cheerleading Squad. These spirit boosters work hard to get the crowd involved with team support.

The requirements for being a cheerleader are a lot higher than they have been in the past. It's not just doing cheers. In fact, the actual cheer is a small part of the role of cheerleader. Each week, a committee of three people is formed. Their job is to write a chant, or several chants, for Friday's game.

The cheerleaders have several sources of income besides fund raisers. They sell ribbons, shakers, seat cushions, and candy.

Overall, the Varsity Cheerleaders are an important aspect of our school spirit. By holding pep rallies and rooting on the teams, they help to make our school what it is.

S.A.D.D.

LIFE SAVERS

Making posters, holding contests, planning promotional activities, and saving lives. The concerned members of S.A.D.D. (Students Against Driving Drunk) strive every day to reach the goals of their organization.

The purpose of the club is to "try to teach the public about the dangers of drinking and driving", explains one of the club's chairpersons, Arlene Hipolito.

Plans for the year included S.A.D.D. week, with a different activity at lunch every day of the week. A rap contest and relay races were among the activities.

Fund raisers are held throughout the year, the profits of which were used to put on an assembly. The assembly to promote the cause of the club included speakers and a slide show. A new fund raiser sale item was tried this year. The S.A.D.D. club sold those popular wristbands that everyone was wearing.

The year's activities also included a dance. The tickets that were bought were exchanged at the door for a 'contract for life'. These agreements were signed by the parent and the student. They said that if the student had been drinking at a party or somewhere, the parent would pick him or her up, no questions asked.

The S.A.D.D. club is an important link toward the end of drunk driving and drunk driving related accidents. By doing their part, they are saving lives around the country and right here in our school.

▼ SAYING YOU CARE is one thing, but some students, like Jeri McDonald and Walter Robbins, care enough to attend the meetings and help out any way they can.

Pep Club

SHE'S A PEP'R

▼ A PICTURE is worth a thousand words. Spirit a excitement might be two for this one.

Rah! Rah! Rah! Sis-boom-bah! Gooooo Komets! It's probably all Greek to you unless you're a member of the Pep Club, an organization that is an important aspect of the Varsity teams.

The club is a bunch of people that go to the games as a group. At the games, they shake shakers, yell encouragement, and have fun. The purpose of this group of spirit sparkers is to liven up the crowd and, with the help of the cheerleaders, add school spirit to the games.

A majority of the members of the Pep Club are also Secret Pals so a lot of the activities are the same. At the end of each season, the girls go with the teams to places like Magic Mountain and Disneyland. Car washes are held, along with other fund raisers, in order to pay for these excursions.

The Pep Club has proven to be a valuable asset to the teams' performance and the players' spirit.

Secret Pals

FREE LUNCH

▲ HAVING FUN is the main idea of any club. Kim Williams' clubs are no exception.

Choosing their men, making lunches and writing notes, the Secret Pals do their best to show the players that someone cares.

At the beginning of each season, the names of the varsity players are read off and the girls write down which of them they want for pals.

The major teams involved are football, basketball and baseball. Other teams are water polo, wrestling, softball and swimming.

When the season ends, the guys meet the girls and they all go on a field trip to somewhere like Magic Mountain.

Every once in a while the girls invite the players to a party. The girls haven't introduced themselves yet, so these meetings stir up a curiosity among the players.

To raise money for all of these activities, the group holds fund raisers every two months.

Every Friday, the players get a lunch that has been made by their Secret Pal. The girls decide what goes into the lunch, but they can write their pal and ask what he would like if they want to. The guys can write back and request small gifts or desserts.

Good friendships have been developed through these activities.

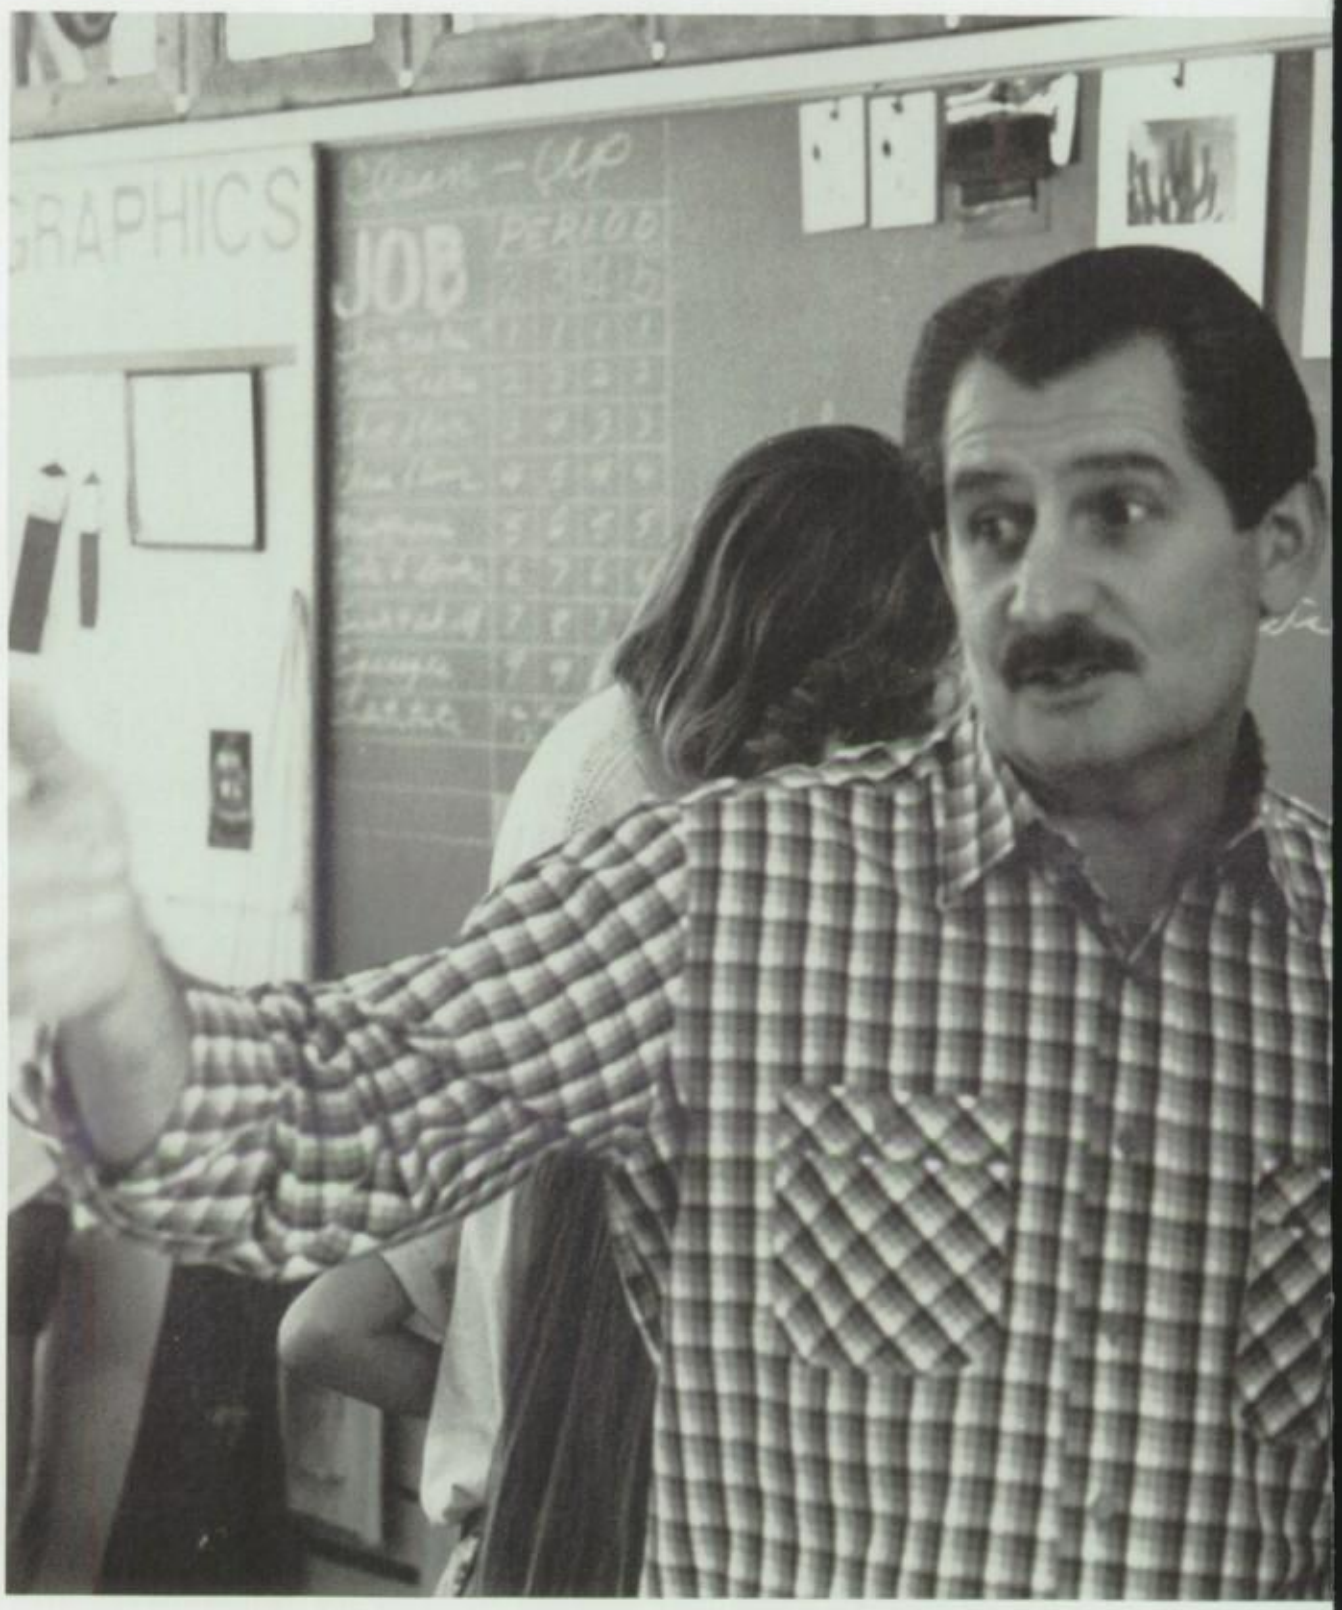
Yearbook

PRESERVING MEMORIES

They make layouts, write copy, and put the entire yearbook together, but they don't do windows. Thanks to the yearbook staff, twenty years from now, you will be able to look through your annual and vividly remember your high school days.

Early in the year, the staff was divided into groups. Each group was assigned a specific section. Once their assignments were given, the rest was entirely up to them. Mr. Jones, the staff's advisor, gives instructions on how things had to be done, but did not interfere otherwise.

The class is an important one because it not only teaches the skills of assembling a book to be published, but it also teaches responsibility. Deadlines must be met with penalty of delaying the yearbook if they are not. It can be rough at times, but at the end of the year, when the results are seen in for form of a yearbook, it's all worth it!



▲ ALWAYS ENTHUSIASTIC, Mr. Jones approve another idea.

▲ CROPPING PICTURES, demonstrated here by Eric Melkerson, is one of the many skills taught to the staff.

Marquee Club

ACTING UP A STORM

"To be or not to be . . . " To be what? The answer to this question is just one of the many facets of acting which are explored by the Marquee Club. The purpose of the club is to give everyone a chance to be involved with the theater, even if they're not acting. Members of the club don't even have to be in drama.

The Marquee Club met Wednesdays after school to discuss plans for selling tickets to productions, and to make posters to advertise the club and it's plays. Six or seven weeks of preparation are needed for each play. This year, the club's fall production, Slow Dance on the Killing Ground, was entered in a contest at CSU Fullerton.

The production was competing against such schools as La Jolla, Patrick Henry, and Serra. There was a total of fifty schools entered in the festival, and ours was graded as being one of the top three. Special certificates of merit from the S.C.E.T.A. were given to Chris Sigrist and Brian Davis for exceptional performances.

The Club is involved with other activities besides plays, however. A Supper Theater, the haunted Museum in Balboa Park, and an Awards Banquet were some of the extra curricular functions attended or organized by the Marquee Club. But it is through producing such plays as "Slow Dance", that this club has continued the tradition of entertainment from the stage.

HUMAN COMPUTERS

NOT ONLY DID THEY DEAL with tremendously tricky word problems, but they solved puzzles and played card games, too. Mr. Krause presided over this band of math lovers. He said that he started the club to give extra help to students interested in math.

But it wasn't all fun and games. They also learned many things. The main objective of the club was to teach its members good economic principles, like how to make their money work for them. This was accomplished through solving banking and money problems.

Not just anyone could join the club. Each student had to prove their intelligence by successfully solving a very difficult math problem. Then they were eligible to join the club. Involvement in the club was time well spent and will certainly be to their advantage in the future.

▼ SMILING WITH EXCITEMENT, Mr. Krause watches the club members work on a word puzzle.

GETTING A HEAD START IN MARKETING is what DECA, Distributive Education Clubs of America, offers for its members. In its third year, they had a much larger class than ever before. They attended conferences in such places as Hawaii, Long Beach, and Anaheim. At the conferences students chose a specific area to compete in, such as banking, advertising, or food marketing. Then they were given written and oral tests dealing with the areas they chose. This team was very competitive and from just one of the conferences they won eleven of the top awards.

Mrs. Pucci was the advisor of the club, but Jose Ledezma was its backbone. As acting president he motivated the class to its victories. Along with Jose, the class was full of leaders and motivators. Michelle Kuck said, "The class teaches us how to become leaders in marketing and life." These club members are striving hard to become leaders and will surely be successful in whatever they do.

French Club

FRENCH FANS

▼ PREPARING CREPES, Arlene Hipolito and Julie Bradbury demonstrate that there is more to this club than speaking French.

French fries, French bread pizza, and French Club members. What do all of these have in common? Well, nothing really, but the French Club members have more fun. The French Club provides an opportunity for students to learn French culture in addition to speaking the language.

The Club went to several French-related activities throughout the years, including French restaurants and French movies (clean ones). One of their biggest events was the celebration of Mardi Gras. The group also did some Christmas caroling, in French, of course! They walked around the campus, spreading Christmas cheer, the Thursday before vacation. Finishing the year off, these fun-loving French folk had an end-of-the-year party. To make money for these activities, the Club held several fundraisers. They started these sales off with Le Pop, a gourmet lollipop.

The French Club's president Mitch Oster, along with the help of his staff, did his best to provide some fun with a French theme for the students of the school.

Dressing up in fancy clothes, sampling exotic cuisine, and sharing cultures. Through these activities, and many others, the members of the International Club learned about the world. This was not the only reason for joining the club, however. The main reason was for fun, and fun it was.

The club met every Wednesday during lunch. Most of the meetings were accompanied by food of all sorts of cultures. But eat wasn't all that these culture-conscience people did. They also wore clothing and costumes from their respective countries and celebrated holidays from around the globe. By the end of the year, the members of the International Club were one big happy bunch of friends.

▲ SHOWING ENTHUSIASM, Kevin Ireton represents one of the many cultures of which this club is composed.

▲ EATING DIFFERENT FOODS became a significant part of the meetings, which were held at lunch.

BEHIND THE SCENES

Making videos, taping skits, doing gag commercials, and learning about the world of media. It's all part of the Media Club, right here, on our very own campus. The members of this club learn a lot, and have fun doing it.

The purpose of the Media Club was to offer the media equipment to all who wanted to use it, regardless of whether or not they had a media class. People who were interested in video and/or audio work found the Media Club to be a great opportunity to beat their skill. The club also gave more work time to those that did have a class. They could come after school and finish a project. The group got together and produced an end-of-the-year film.

Producing a music video, for instance, is a lot harder than it may seem. Editing can take forever, and finding the right footage to go along with the music can be tough. But fortunately, Mr. Corlett, as well as some of the more experienced Mediamen, is always there to help out. Probably the best part about making your own video is that you have total control. You can use special effects widely and generously, or not at all. Watching the finished product can really make you proud of yourself.

All in all, many projects were made, and much fun was had by the members of this club. It gave people a chance to check-out media, and decide whether or not they liked it. It also served as another step for those who planned to move on to a career in the media world.

Academic League

THE BRAINY BUNCH

▲ RINGING IN, Sandy Dalal prepares to give her answer in a match against San Diego High.

Quick! You've got five seconds to figure out the derivative of x to the -2x power. Little bit of pressure, huh? It's no problem, however, for the members of the Academic League. They put their minds to the test once a week for the spirit of the game.

The group was divided into varsity and junior varsity teams, so two games were played at each match. The subjects of the questions included math, the sciences, arts and literature, social science, and current events. Each member of the team tended to be strong in one or two of these fields, and each player contributed to the team as a whole. To prepare for the matches, Col. Hester asked typical questions from a list that was given to each team at the beginning of the season.

The teams of the district were divided into groups according to their level of ability, and, as a result, our team was up against some pretty tough competition. They are mainly a math-science team, and the teams they played seemed to be good at everything else. A good match-up was against Mira Mesa, who proved to be about the same level as our team.

An unfortunate view of the Academic League was that the members were a bunch of "nerds." They were, and are, very intelligent, but that should not be held against them. The matches were held Thursdays, and were open to anyone who wanted to come and watch. It's almost like being on the set of Jeopardy. What these people do is something to be appreciated, and they deserve more credit than they have gotten.

JUNIOR G.I. JOES

▼ DISPLAYING THE FLAGS of our country and school, the male color guard stands proud.

Shooting guns, marching, and learning. The JROTC is an exciting elective packed with things to do and learn.

Every Monday began a busy week for the cadets. Army Leadership and history, as well as JROTC goals and benefits were taught on Mondays and Tuesdays. On Wednesdays, everyone dressed in their uniforms. They then practiced drills out on the blacktop. On Thursdays and Fridays, softball and other sports were played. The boys softball team won the league championship this year, and the girls tied for third. The JROTC colorguard performed at such places as the Organ Pavilion in Balboa Park, a Padres vs. Dodgers game, and in the Old Town Christmas Parade.

LTC Joe C. Hester and CSM Randolph Pender taught this course which teaches good respect for authority, respect for our country and flag, physical fitness, and the importance of a high school education. The cadets also got a feel of basic military life.

DRUMMING UP SPIRIT

The few, the proud, the Marching Drum Corps. These five drummers drumming have lifted the spirits of fans and players alike whenever they played at a game.

The members of the Drum Corps do more than play, however. They put a lot of time into practice and competition. In fact, the informal group of yesteryear has become a second period class. Being organized as such, the team can have more time to polish their skills in preparation for competition against other schools.

The Marching Drum Corps is actually a subsidiary of the JROTC. This fact becomes evident when one sees the precision with which they march. The qualities of the JROTC are also seen in the uniforms of the Corps, and in the professional attitudes of it's members.

The Marching Drum Corps has become a symbol of spirit and prestige that adds extra spice to the games of the season.

Speech

SPEAKING THEIR MINDS

The power of speech. If only it were possible to harness the energy generated by the Speech Team. The power to persuade and defend could be used to light up Cleveland for weeks. Just imagine.

The lifeblood of the Speech Team is competition, and, understandably, they like to win. Pride can be taken when the members of the team, individually or as a group, beat out such schools as Madison, La Jolla, and Mira Mesa in city wide tournaments.

One such tournament was the Lions Club Speech Tournament. Our own Todd Villalobos walked away from that one with the First Place trophy. At the Rotary Club competition, Kim Williams placed first, Jackie Hunstable took second, and June Nguyen came in third.

A special win for the Speech Team was at the Discussion Tournament held at Point Loma High School. The people that competed in this event were divided into "A" groups and "B" groups — sort of like J.V. and Varsity. Todd Villalobos and June Nguyen were the only people in the "A" group that received superior ratings from the judges. Including this year's victory, the Speech Team, as a group, has won first place for four years straight.

There is more to speech than competition, however. For instance, several members of Mrs. Singer's speech classes, including Tammy Roubineck, Todd Villalobos, and Linda Newell, produced and performed the musical "Grease." Fund raisers were held, and the money was used to buy trophies and pins for the members of the Speech Team.

Public speaking, in everyday life, is important to success in all areas of one's life as a means of communication. Anyone can talk, but to manipulate, persuade, and defend as these outstanding orators have done, is quite another story.

▲ PRACTICE, PRACTICE, PRACTICE. Rehearsing their presentations, Tammy Roubineck, Jackie Huntstable, and Nablia Massoumi know that public speaking will be, in one form or another, part of thei futures.

▼ GUILDING HER TEAM TO VICTORY, Mrs. Singer supports her team with enthusiasm.

▼ PRESENTING A SPEECH is not half of the job; June Nguyen works busily on the other half.

▲ John Williamson was not only good academically, but he is the best athlete Kearny has ever seen. He was a star varsity player in football, basketball and baseball all of his high school years. This gave him a total of nine varsity letters. His future looks great with an athletic scholarship to S.D.S.U.

ALL YOU'VE GOT

▲ Although Kathleen and Christina McMann are identical twins, they have unique athletic differences. They both have shown talent in volleyball, soccer and swimming; and participating in these sports during their high school years.

What has thirty-eight legs, lots of ideas, and the organizational ability of a file cabinet? It's the Associated Student Body, and it has worked hard to make the year a memorable one. Homecoming, an awards assembly, dances, drug awareness week, and spirit week (called "Crazy Daze") were the major events of the year.

According to Holly Bell, the ASB President, the organization "was formed to promote school spirit and sponsor positive social activities for the students." The money for these activities had to be obtained somehow. Unlike other organizations, the ASB did not hold off-campus fund raisers. The Student Store, vending machines, and other activities on the campus brought in enough money to support their cause.

The ASB should not be thought of as a governing power, but rather as a representative party. They are a group for the students so they encouraged input from everyone. The officers are divided into groups, or committees, and each one is assigned a specific job. All of the committees have boxes in the Student Store. Ideas, criticisms, or advice may be placed in these boxes so the ASB may consider them.

If all goes as planned, by the end of the year, everyone should remember their stay at Kearny as a special one.

Fashion Club

LOOKING GOOD

Looking good is the number one objective of the Fashion Club. To accomplish this goal, they attended meetings every Friday throughout the school year. During each meeting they learned the in's and out's of fashion.

In the beginning, they practiced and developed good posture and walking techniques and built their way up to modeling poses. The final product of all this diligence was a more beautiful person, both inside and out.

One of the goals of the club was to put on a fashion show for the school before the end of the year. This could only be possible if everyone worked together with the planning, advertising, obtaining clothes, and modeling. When they set their mind on something it was accomplished.

In addition to all the work, the members of the Fashion Club had a lot of fun and made many new friends.

Finding a better future, is what the members of the California Scholarship Federation, C.S.F., wanted to do. The C.S.F. gave students the opportunity to find out about many colleges and what they had available. To do this, the C.S.F. invited representatives from the colleges and universities, of their choice, to talk to them about what their schools offered.

Throughout the school year, the C.S.F. conducted several fundraising activities, such as a car wash and selling candy. One of the things that the money went for was field trips to various campuses in our community.

Mrs. Stewart, advisor to the C.S.F., helped the group find out about the colleges and the scholarships available.

The group helped each other decide what was best for their future and will help them succeed in life.

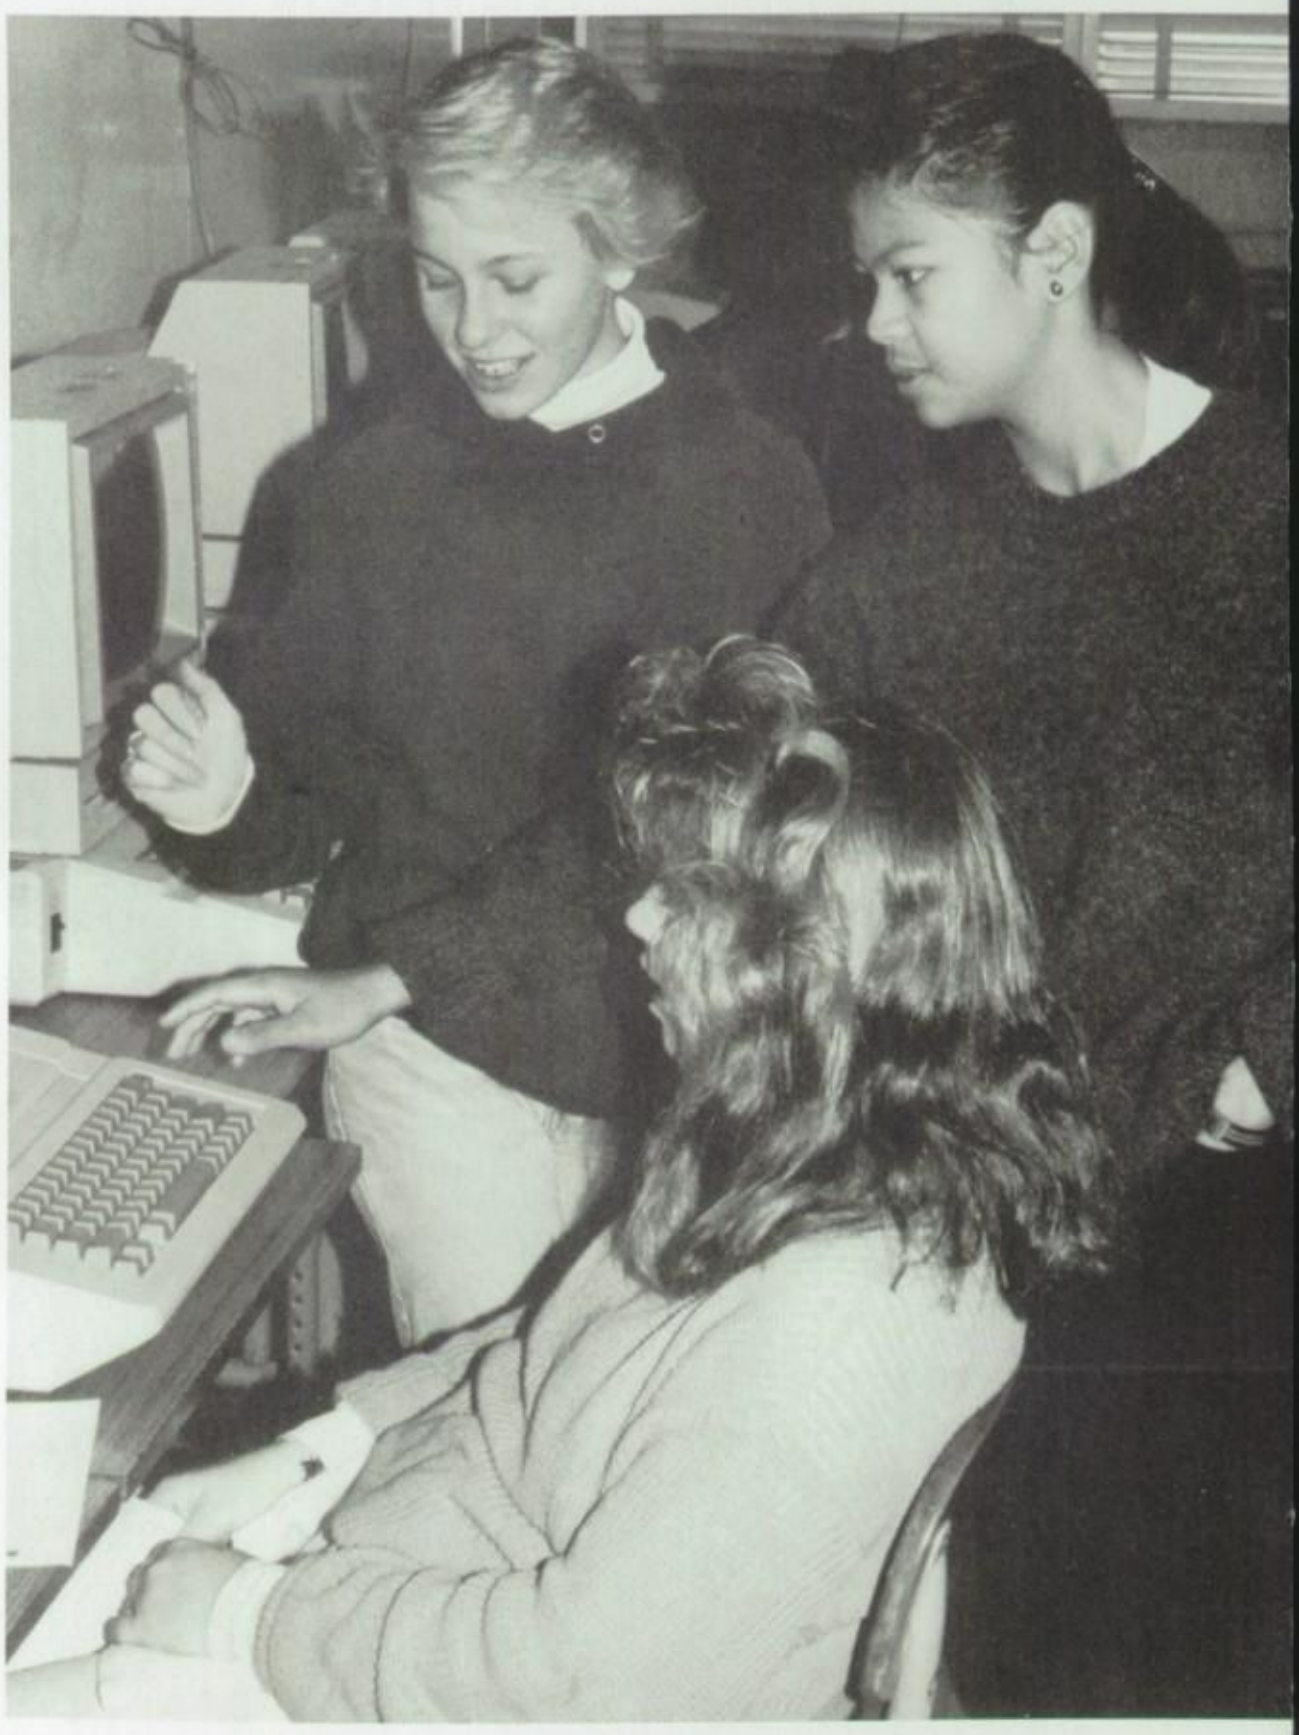
STARS OF OUR GALAXY

Got a problem you'd like settled? Got a question you want answered? Save yourself the call to Dr. Ruth by reading the Galaxy, your school's informative newspaper. The Galaxy gives insight into current events at school, in the city, and around the world.

In order to achieve smooth production of the paper, the staff was divided into two groups: reporters and production. When asked what she thought of the staff, the paper's editor, Tanya Foulk, replied, "The Galaxy has a lot of hard working, dedicated people who care about keeping the school informed." Some of the better reporters of the year were Rachelle Summers, Martha Souto, Julie Moore, Yvette Normand, Tirza Ceseña, Lucia Gulyas, and Teresa Talpacido. Some of the more productive production people were Lee Cook and Teresa Hicok. The production crew printed pictures, worked the press, and made layouts.

The Galaxy was printed once a month and sold for a quarter by the vending machines next to the cafeteria. The Galaxy — your outlet to the inside information about what's happening on campus.



▲TEAMWORK, as demonstrated here by Juli Moore, Teresa Talplacido, and Martha Souto, is ver important to the production of the Galaxy.

▼ GOING OVER THE WEEKLY STORIES, Yen Tran, Dennis Farren, and Mike Dixon choose stories for their layouts.

▼ ORGANIZING THE FACTS into an article ready for print can be the toughest job of journalism. This obstacle is tackled here by Yvette Normand.

JV-Cheer

SHOWING SPIRIT

Bringing spirit to our school's JV games was the exciting job of the Junior Varsity Cheerleaders. These energetic girls were experts at bringing excitement to the crowds.

To be the best, these girls had to sacrifice their time after school for weeks to practice. They learned new cheers, stunts, and even developed a dance.

Not only did they cheer for the JV games, but they also helped the Varsity Cheerleaders with our school pep rallies and, when our basketball team made it to the CIF championship games.

Through their diligence they have helped give our school more spirit than it has had for a long time. Not only spirit, but a faith in our teams.

▲ CHEERING ON THE SIDELINES, Honey Jackey does what she loves the most.

▼ MARCHING TRIUMPHANTLY: Dawn Griffen, Dawn Christon, Gina Jenkins, Honey Jackey, and Elisa Jangston return from the other side of the field to cheer for the home team.

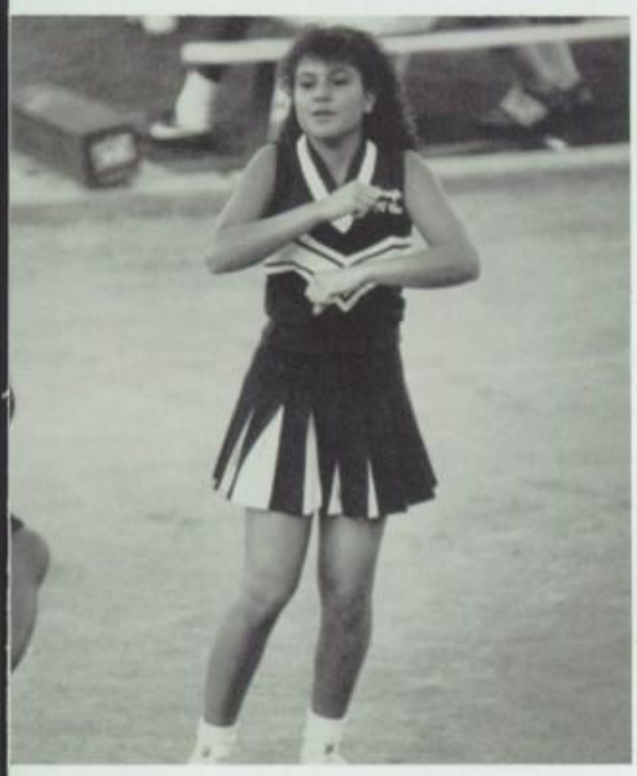
▲THESE GIRLS will go out on a limb to take their cheers to a new height.



▲ DANCING ON THE TRACK, Jennifer Asmar brings spirit to the crowd.

▲WITH VICTORY IN SIGHT, Dawn Christon shows her excitement in a cheer.

I CAN DIG THAT

The gym begins to light up and the nets raise in the air. The players congregate along the sidelines as everyone anticipates the start of another intensifying game. As the player steadies herself for the serve, a hush passes through the crowd. The silence is broken by the whip of the ball as it flies over the net. The spectators begin to scream and yell enthusiastically.

Volleyball is one of the most popular Fall sports. The players not only have to be physically fit, but also mentally prepared. Such players as seniors Paulette Arcos, Kathy Graham, Michelle McLaughlin, Florine Pulu and Chandra Riccia demonstrated this strength. This ability gave them the title quoted by Coach Kohr o being "The best team in the last 4 years."

One of their mottos is that "Winning is not everything having spirit is a win." This was a party of their motivation for thei winning. Coach Kohr often expressed herself with quotes like these to motivate her team members to do the best job they can do and t accomplish even better goals in their future. Not only in playing sports, but in playing the game of life.

TOGETHERNESS

Togetherness is a familiar word for many of the players on this court. After many hours of tedious practice, soon everyone learns that the numerous hours of work really do pay off. Before every game the goal was not necessarily to win the game but to play the best that everyone is capable of playing. Having fun was a top priority for many girls, as well as for Coach Douglas.

With the strength from returners, Dera Aswegan, Mary Bombardo, Stephanie French, and Nancy Hicks. The team's skills improved better and faster than any other team's have before. Outstanding hitters, Laquiesha Duncan, Stephanie French, and Marci Mueller continuously compliment the sets of Julie Moore, and exchange student Yukari Wakakuri. A strong force in the Western League always prevails, but in our minds these girls are always number one.

The main goal of this group was to play as a team. To quote Coach Douglas, "My goal is to make this team the best players that they can be. "Provoking more team spirit definitely helped these girls to reach their true potential. Many different teams have many different strong points, but togetherness prevailed here.

PAIN FOR PRIDE

In a sport where pride comes before pain, runners strive to become the best as they break the tape of time. They are exhausted, but their will to win and stride to the top, encourages them to continue down the course. The seconds tediously ticked by, while the intensity of the heat and final moments approached.

The team was inspired by Bethany Riffe, Walter Stegman, Hector Valenzuela, and Julia Williamson, but most of all by Coach Cohen and assistant Coach Pat Castro. Their words of encouragement kept the team going to bigger and better races.

The boys' squad placed first in the Mt. Carmel Invitational, also the girls' team finished second in the Division two race in the Mt. Sac Invitational. Which was the first girls' squad to accomplish this in the history of our school.

The preparation for the meets involved dedication to the sport in training their minds and bodies to eventually become the fastest and most competitive runners on the course. Some members that demonstrated this dedication were Lupe Cesena, Cheryl Gifford, Sofia Gomez and Kristi Meze. They are what led this team to one of our schools' most successful years.

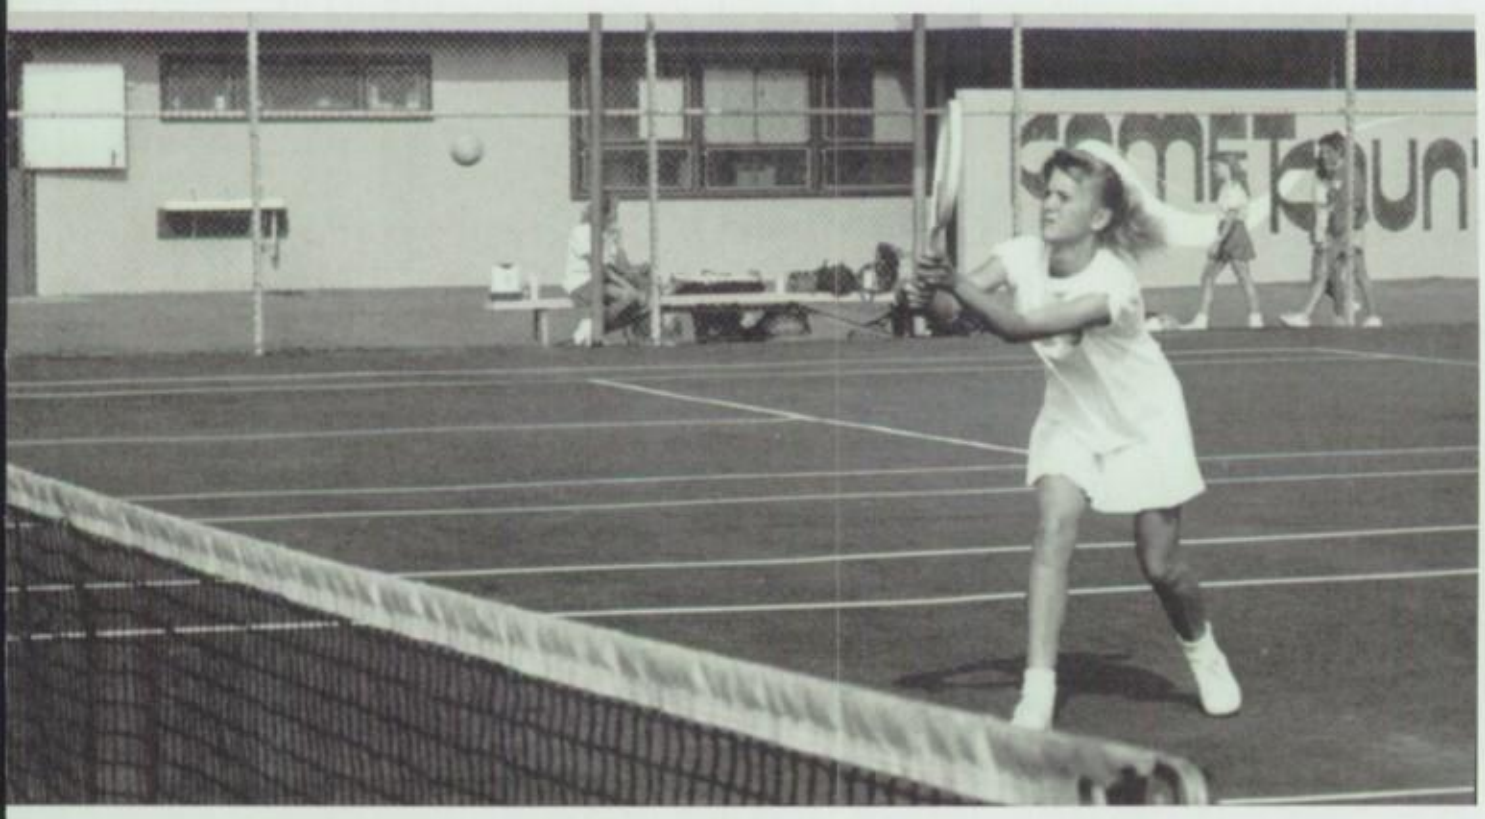
MAKIN' A RACKET

The sweltering heat hits the pavement and beats down on exhausted bodies as the tennis ball soars back-n-forth across the net. Spectators watch the match intently while the score becomes 40-40 deuce. As a tremor grows among the crowd, the speaker announces to the fans that the winning point goes to our team. There is a roar and enthusiastic clapping as the girls tennis team comes out on top once again.

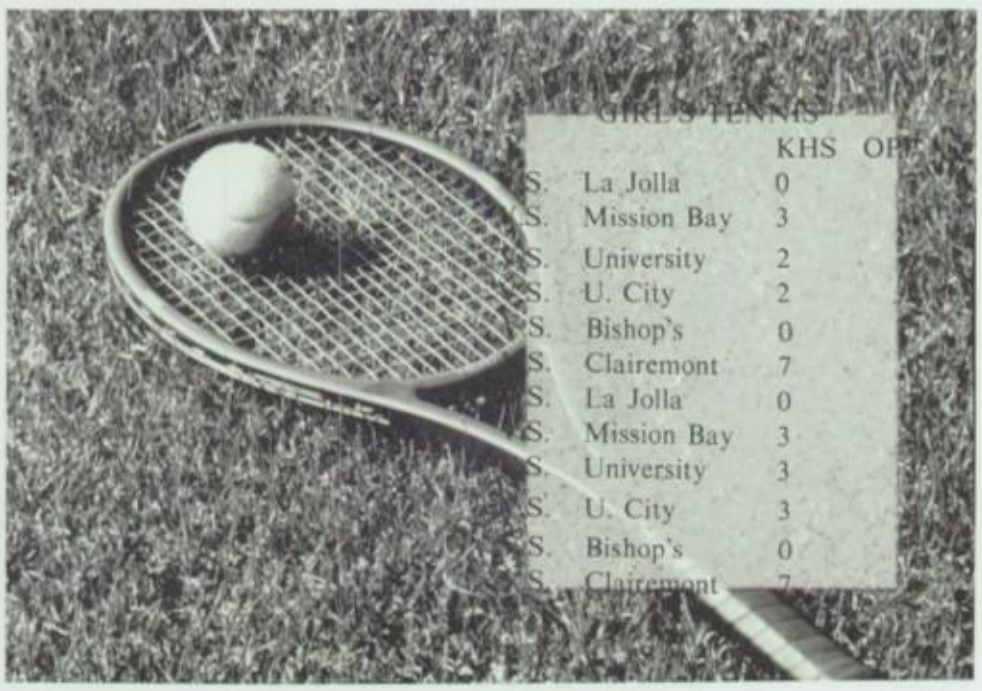
Tennis is a remarkably competitive game which involves quick response to action and skill. Enthusiasm was apparent in all of the girls attitudes towards winning the matches, and especially apparent in spirited team members, Tracey Bauer, June Nguyen, Arlene Santos, and Maiko Rogers. These returning members helped to strengthen the team using their experience and abilities. Boosting the team's strength and pride were Coach Brooks and Coach Short.

As the sun turned to dusk, the apparent expression of relief showed on every girl's face, for the tension built up during the seasons practice had paid off. The hard earned experience was to be with them forever and for some to be winners again next season.



◀ STEPPING INTO THE SWING, Dawn Andrews prepares to return the ball.

▲ STEADYING HERSELF with grace and poise, June Nguyen positions her racket to return the ball.



◀ DEMONSTRATING ALL OF HER STRENGTH and ability, Marie Thulin reaches toward a strong swing.

AQUA PRO'S

The heat is on as sun drenched arms reach out to pass the soaring ball, as it flies back and forth across the glistening water. Supportive, onlooking fans scream enthusiastically as a body hurls himself out of the water, catches the ball, and tosses it into the goal net for the winning point.

Imagine a game that combines the rules of basketball and soccer, and consists of the ability to swim skillfully and extremely fast. This game is a very popular and exciting sport known as Water Polo.

Water Polo demands extreme agility, endurance, and coordination. All of these skills attribute to an excellent, winning player. Some outstanding returning varsity players are Paul Hicks, John Nelson, and Scott Whitney. Defeating some of the top teams in the league, the water polo team pulled together with inspiration from their two coaches, J. Butler and T. Schaffer.

During the year, some of the team's members demonstrated the responsibility of keeping the team's spirits up and holding them together. Such members included John Nelson, Ricky Morton, and Robert Motl, making them the team's most valuable players. The water polo teams, varsity and junior varsity, showed us that they were NUMBER ONE.

TOUCHDOWN TEAM

Pride and dedication was always seen on the faces of these men. Such dedication was witnessed during the last few weeks of summer vacation in the two-a-day practices commonly called "Hell week." The pain and endurance exerted in these practices, was apparent to all spectators in the stands. Everyone knew who put their share of time into the game.

The entire team's goal was to make it to the playoffs, and to improve with each game. These goals were just about accomplished. The team finished third in the Western League, and just missed the playoffs. Outstanding offensive players were Eric Mercado, Tommy Rawlins, and John Williamson. Leading Defensive players were Wesley Altoff, Mark Hood, and Corey Bailey.

Coach Matson's feelings about the many interesting players on the team, were summed up in the quote, from the man himself "This football team showed a lot of character and determination." The team played a difficult schedule in the pre-season, but bounced back to have a successful league season. There was dedication in every player on the team, this was proven by their outstanding comeback in their league. This team certainly has shown character and determination.

THE LONGEST YARD

On Junior Varsity developing good fundamentals is a must. In the learning years of these players, many lessons are learned, as well as many football techniques. Some of the goals of Coach Barnett were to develop good fundamentals, sportsmanship, and attitudes. Also of course, to score touchdowns and win as many games as possible.

The most outstanding players on the team are, quarterback Ferdie Hollis, a sophomore, linebacker Eric Diodo, a freshman, tackle Al Richardson, a sophomore, linebacker Munchie Brown, a sophomore, and offensive linebacker Alex Robinson, another freshman.

Finishing third in the league proved that the players had learned valuable lessons, and played good football. The team outscored their opponents ninety-two to thirty in the league. Coach Barnett really enjoyed his first year of coaching Junior Varsity football, "It was quite an experience for me." The ninth graders played very hard and Coach Barnett said that it was really good working with them.

SHOOTING STARS

What does it take to stay number one? Ask anyone and they will tell you, "Work". It certainly does take a significant amount of work. According to Pro-Basketball star, Bill Russel, "You've got to want to win so badly that the thought of coming in second is simply intolerable." This two time defending championship team knows what it takes to get to number one, and what it takes to stay there. Having such a well balanced team with so much experience has undoubtedly helped out the team.

"The Three Basketeers" — John Williamson, Randy Robinson, and Chris Ortiz, have led the Komets to their outstanding win-loss record. John Williamson has been a three year starter on Varsity, and has added much experience to the team. Colorado bound Randy Robinson was the most valuable player in the Western League, and named on to the all C.I.F. team in 1987. Chris Ortiz has been an enhancement to one of Kearny's strongest points, which is their outstanding freethrow shooting. Other returning players were Andrew Chan, Chris Floyd, Mike Hutchison, and Darin Weeks.

Coming in first place in the Hilltop Tournament, and second in Bonita Vista's, took the team to Chapparral High School in Arizona to win the consolation championship in the Chapparral Holiday Tournament. Coach Peterson felt that "There was excellent competition in Arizona, and it was a great experience for the kids." The players are really good, and Coach Peterson says, "I like them a lot as people and I'm proud of them."

At the Hoop

In a game such as basketball, it takes numerous hours of hard work and dedication in order to master the game. These are the growing years, when these guys prepare to make the Varsity team. Whether it's next year or maybe even the year after that, all of these men are determined to make it. Whatever it takes, these boys are out to impress everyone that is watching.

The team blends together very well, because each player does at least one thing great. Two players whose skills are quite apparent are Carlos Morgan for his defense, and Tommy Rawlins with his offense. The entire team plays very good defense, in fact that is one of their strongest points. So far no team has scored over forty five points against them in any league game.

After winning the La Jolla Christmas Tournament, this team is expected to dominate the Western League once again. They do not expect to go 10 and 0 in the league, but it is a reachable goal for them. Realizing how hard all these players work on themselves, Coach Marlon Christensen says, "I like this group of kids because they work hard and they all have their own personal goals."

HOOP-LA!

The sound of thundering feet echoes through the gym as NIKE AIRS fly across the court in an attempt to regain the ball. The spectators scream and clap enthusiastically as they watch intently to a fast paced, competitive game of girls' basketball. The girls' defensive tactics came alive as each player became powerful in an effort to recover the ball and make a point for their team.

Suddenly, in a rush of bodies and entangled feet, one arm reaches into the air, blocks the ball from a hazardous point, and begins the long, but fast journey back to their side in a phenomenal rebound. No opposing team mate can stop her as she furiously dribbles the ball to her destination, leaps into the air, and dunks the ball fast and hard into the basket making the winning point.

The girls' Varsity and Junior Varsity teams were stronger thi year than they had ever been in the past. In a feat that has not bee accomplished in many years, the team made it to the CIF playoffs Outstanding returning players, Stephanie Dunn, Kennita Hurle and Kristi Meze, showed the team that they were responsible i keeping the gang together and the winning spirits high. Othe returning players, Julia Williamson and Michelle White also helped to gain confidence for their team. Coach Hernandez says "We have been a strong team due to our returning players and new members who, by sticking together made a successful season.

Stamina, strength and starvation, what do all of these words have in common? Not only do they begin with an "S," but hese are also the qualities that one would find in a wrestler. They eed the stamina to go through 3 two minute periods to pin an pponent. Strength is also needed to overpower the opponent and ake him down to win the match. The willpower to diet and meet a ertain weight each week is also essential.

These types of abilities could be seen on each and every persons ace on the wrestling squad this season. Some of the wrestlers which demonstrated these strengths were seniors Richie Amanonce (108 lbs.), Mike McMahon (115 lbs.) and Hector Valenzuela (147 lbs.) also juniors Josue Estrada, Gallo Quinonez and Gustavo Valenzuela. They led the way to victories against Patrick Henry, San Diego and Saint Augustine high schools.

Their abilities and success of the team can be credited to Coach Fairchilds' expertise in the sport of wrestling. "He is a real hard and dedicated former wrestler from Kearny. He likes to see his wrestlers excel no matter what it takes." Says team mate Richie Amanonce. His kind heart, but tough workouts have earned him the respect and winning attitudes of his wrestlers.

JUST KICKIN' IT

There is a rush of entanglement of feet as each teams players fight frantically over the ball. Suddenly the ball is kicked upward into the air by an anonymous foot while the crowd watched in anticipation. Down the ball bounces heavily as a foot passed it to a teammate just in time to catch the goalie off guard, and into the net the ball flies fast and hard, making the point that wins the game. Pride is apparent on each players face as the on lookers scream enthusiastically.

Soccer is fast becoming a very popular sport in our school for one because it is an exciting game to take part in. This season our soccer team made the games enjoyable to watch because the dedication to win had shone on every team members face. Their desire to keep on improving was apparent during the last few games when the team made some vast strides in their performance. Coach Flemings' good thoughts about this seasons team — "We're still a team that can develop. We've won and tied our first league team and now we have just as good a chance as anybody to make it to the playoffs."

Certain team members were responsible for holding the team together and keeping the winning spirit alive in everyone. Such members were John Aves, Paul Baleme, Gene Betz and Paul Hicks. They are also this seasons returning players, including Steve Metz, Kham Phamavong, Todd Preston, Larry Thurman, and Brian Vandivier. TRIGGER ACTION

Targets on the wall, guns being cocked, marksmen taking aim, is a familiar scene that takes place at the firing range during a rifle team practice. As they sharpen their firing skills, consistency and self discipline are shown as the team shoots bulls'-eye after bulls'-eye.

The capability of a good shooter depends on how fast he or she learns the basic eye and breathing controls to handle the 22 Caliber Bolt Action Rifle. Some of the students who mastered these skills were, seniors Mike Adkisson, Farrell Layton and Junior Thuan Tong. They along with the rest of the talented shooters were strong in winning against some of the toughest teams in the league like the Army Navy Academy, also the Junior Varsity squad were winners against Hoover high school.

Col. Hester likes his shooters "to do the best that they are capable of doing, and feel proud of what they've accomplished." Indeed all of the members have accomplished a great many victories on the range to be proud of.

HITTIN' HOME

Every boys dream is to be a baseball star, either in the big leagues, or maybe in little league. A high school team is unique though, we like to think of our team as just that, a team. Unity is a well stressed point on a baseball team. You can't win a game with just one man, it takes a team.

These men play exciting baseball, they play with a unity of purpose, and always try to make things happen. Much of the game depends on the pitching. Most of the team consists of seniors, three of whom control the pitcher's mound, Brian Archer, John Smith, and John Williamson. The team is small, and there isn't always a person to play every position well, but somehow these guys manage to always play their best, and usually come out ahead.

These players are very competitive in the Western League, they are capable of beating any given team on any given day, it's just a matter of who can prevail. In the long run team baseball will always prevail over individuals. So when you dream about making it to the big leagues, think of this team, and think of these players, because they are the perfect role models for success.

SWINGS IN THE PARK

In the beginning, you remember saying to yourself. I, one day want to play in pro sports. And you began to fulfill that dream by playing Little League baseball or Pee-Wee Football. In doing so you made a step in your big, but little dream. As one grew older and matured during their high school life they realized that they could broaden that dream by playing high school football or baseball. In the case of these men they chose baseball as their sport.

In playing J.V. Baseball they worked hard and played well to make it the best team, also for the self enjoyment of playing like a pro. Some outstanding players like Eric Diato and Tommy Bombardo showed that they, along with the rest of the teammates were capable of showing their winning talents and capabilities.

As the season came to a close you might say to yourself that you are once again approaching that near future goal of being the best that you can be. Whether it's in baseball or in life these players came out all winners.

NOT SO SOFT

Softball is a game of determination and skill. The hours of hard practice donated by the girls of spring show when they make great plays, and give tough teams a good fight. The game of softball allows athletes to show their abilities, for the sport requires many different talents.

The turnout for softball has made them a solid ball club. This is enhanced by returning seniors, Paulette Arcos, Stephanie Dunn, Shelly Ford, Samantha Kim, Michelle McGlaughlin, Chandra Riccia, and Kim Williams. The younger faces on the team look as hopeful as ever for a perfect future, and hopefully a starting position on Varsity soon. Mr. Singer and Chet Bruzy are working together to raise the young group of Junior Varsity players. Coach Twombley is very encouraged to see the girls' talent, dedication, and good experience out on the ball field. The spirit that emerges during softball is always present in every player. The team works together, and always does their best. Although the faces change every year, the spirit of the game will never die. The memories of the season will live forever in the minds of these players. In years to come these young ladies will become mothers and even grandmothers, and perhaps they will reflect upon their days as stars on the field, at their old Alma Mater.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT

The opening warm-up exercises commence as the traditional jog around the track comes forth. The minds of the tracksters are set in doing the best their bodies and minds will let them accomplish. The team stretches their well worked muscles to get the best momentum of the soon to be races and events. As you take a look at the people and faces of the teammates, you notice that there is a certain glare in their eyes that makes you wonder what kind of a person it takes to run track and field. There are all sorts of athletes because it takes all sorts of talents.

The talents of the individuals, however diverse converged as one to produce a winning team. A few of the contributing factors included some of the best returning athletes such as Carry Gordon Ovian Moore, and Hector Valenzuela. Without such unity within the members of the team, the winning season would be out of reach. With fierce competition against La Jolla and University our track stars set their minds to overcome any obstacles.

Head coach Cohen was quite pleased with the turnout of 120 athletes, 90 of which were boys'. They showed that they were dedicated to the sport in trying to make it the best team ever. Considering the team was large in size, their high spirits and great attitudes towards each other helped to make the team stronger in all areas. With such a team, being #1 would be the only outcome.

MAKING TRACKS!

Tough and tiring work outs daily made up the lives of many true athletes. They prepared themselves to reach the CIF finals which was the ultimate goal.They worked themselves to the limit in practice which are in deed tough, but well worth the pain. Each member had to endure and persist to become the best in their chosen event.

Some of this seasons achievements were sweeping their division in the Tiger Relays Invitational on Saturday, March 18, 1988. All the participants from Kearny earned medals in the top 3 places in their events. Some of the winners were Jane Mason, Maria Thulin and Traci Vogt placing 2nd in the discus. Also deserving mention were Cristina Cottrell, Kristi Meze, Danielle Twyman, and Peggy O'Berg who placed 3rd in the short relay, sprint medley and the mile relay. This invitational was only a demonstration of what was to come in the near future.

This seasons team was quite small compared to other years, so the members had to work extra hard to achieve the same results, if not better than last years team. "There were not many girls out there, but the ones that are out really work hard and strive to win and have a lot of confidence in each other." Says senior sprinter Kristi Meze. With such confidence and abilities among them no boundaries would be set.

SWINGERS

Two of the most unique sports in high school are Golf and Badminton. The two sports take such dedication and even more determination than many other activities in high school. The new season brings with it hopes of making it to C.I.F.

The Badminton team is expected to send several singles to the C.I.F. championships. The entire team has a good chance as well. Returners such as seniors, Pat Duong, Phat Phan, Talo Phengrasamee, Quang Quach, Trinh Quach, Santisouk Sphabmixay, Mui Su, and junior, Hung Chau, add much experience to the team.

The Golf team is much improved over last year. Much of this change is a direct result of Josh Madden and Pete Olds, the teams top two golfers. Returners Brian Page and Marcus Oniel also add to the teams' excellence. Some of the new and hopeful faces seen on the course this year were John Barrett, Chris Bruz, and Dave Mazzarelle. The Western League in golf is one of the toughest leagues in the Nation, that just shows how competitive our team really is.

The main purpose of both of the teams is to always do their best and to develop a sense of friendship and team spirit. Nice goals for great student athletes.

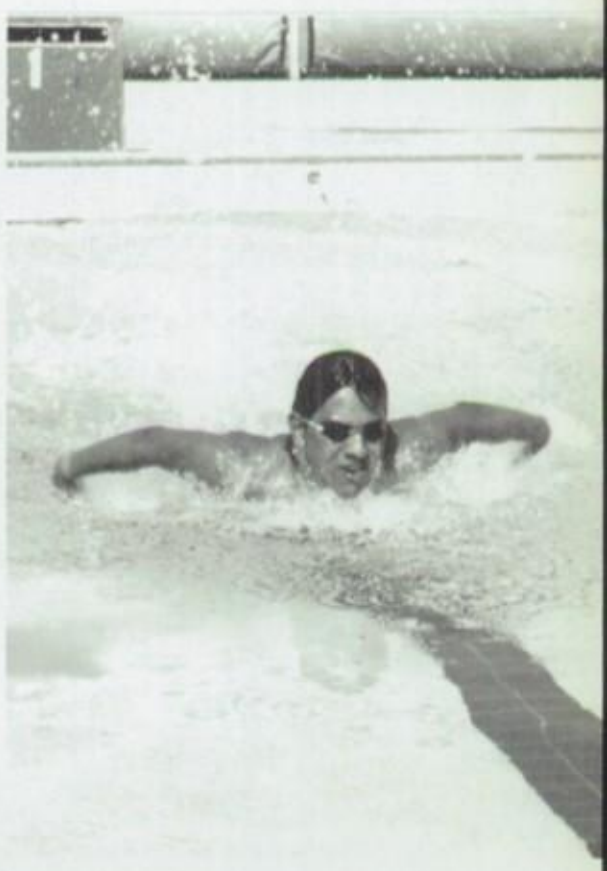
WET N' WILD!

"Everyone in the pool. 500 yard swim, 200 yard kick for your warm up." As each swimmer began their practice, they knew that it would be no easy task. With many laps to swim and kick ahead, the boys swim team had to condition their bodies to meet the heavy demands of being a swimmer.

The boys swim team had a great reputation to live up to. With many of last years swimmers qualifying for CIF, the Varsity boys needed to give an extra effort to do the same as their predecessors. Seniors Jon Nelson, Robert Motl, David Castillo, Paul Hicks, Ricky Morton, and Saun Ramano met the challenge by qualifying for city finals early in the season.

The hard workouts and long hours spent in the pool paid off in the end. Even after starting the season eight days late, the strength of the boys team was still prevalent. They undoubtedly showed that their hard work made them one of the best mens swim teams in the Western League.

◀ STRETCHING OUT his stroke, Jon Nelson arrives to beat his opponents.



▲ LOOKING AHEAD for the next stroke, David Castillo goes for the win.

◀ IN THE FINAL LEG of the 100 yard backstroke, Saun Ramano stretches for the finish.

◀ TOP ROW: Coach Kohr, R. Morton, J. Montiallo, J. Hunter, J. Nelson, S. Ramano, V. Gray, B. Ewert, Coach Bush. FRONT ROW: T. Easter, S. Whitney, P. Hicks, B. Moyer, R. Thomas, S. Fain, C. DeParias, M. Larebi, D. Castillo, P. Mazzarelle.

WATER LILIES

The bell rang at 1:40 p.m. signifying the end of sixth period. There was tension and fear in the minds and bodies of a group of high school girls. They knew that their swim meet was close at hand. At the pool, confusion had set in. Would we have enough timers? Was our star swimmer sick? Finally, the referee called the first relay teams to the blocks. As you glance over your opponents and wonder who will be the winner. The referee signals to approach the blocks. You're heart raced and you heard the gun. As your body hit the water, all of the worries were gone, and you concentrated only on finishing your race to the best of your abilities.

The girls' swim team, coached by Mrs. Kohr and Jeff Bush, got off to a shaky start, with very few returning swimmers, the team needed to work on building strength, courage, and agility. Some o the more experienced swimmers included Seniors Amy Infantin Kelli Riddle, Raquel Soria, and Briget Spineto. Other returnin swimmers like Dara Aswagan, Stephanie French, Marcy Scot and Martha Souto were also vital to the team. They had their firs meet after only three days of practice.

Being a swimmer meant going to morning practice at 6:00 A.M attending a full day at school and returning to the pool for after noon practice. Trying to balance the hectic water schedule wit school, work, extracurricular clubs and activities, and many time having a job was too much for some, but those that stayed with were rewarded in the end.

▶ GASPING FOR a new breath, Amy Infantino heads for the finish.

▲TOP ROW: Coach Kohr, N. Hoshino, S. French, D. Aswegan, C. Graham, K. Hunter, Coach Zick. ROW TWO: A. Skinner, K. Riddle, K. Sotello, A. Infantino, S. Graham, R. Soria, Coach Bush. FRONT ROW: J. Jamann, B. Spineto, N. Hicks, J. Stratton, J. Moore.

▼ GOING TOWARDS her goal, Bri- get Spineto nears the wall.

◀ CONCENTRATING on her next stroke, Raquel Soria looks ahead for the win.

SPRING

▶ STRETCHING TO SAVE the score, Jerry Curmack goes for the swing.

▶▼ REACHING for a low ball, Mike McMurry easily returns the ball.

▲ WITH A CLOSE eye, Rudy Malino prepares for the hit.

▶ TOP ROW: D. Mayers, C. Nhan, M. McMurry, K. Broeren, J. Magana, T. Ton, Coach Webster. FRONT ROW: P. Sengsonya, D. Lou, J. Curmack, R. Malino, H. Tran, R. Cineka.

SMASH HITS

Heat waves vibrate through the air as hot feet run back and forth across the black top. The sound of a lone ball echoes off the bleachers as it bounces once, and swiftly but softly soars across the net. Onlookers heads twist left and right as the tennis match deepens in intensity. Suddenly one player swings his racket in such a way that he catches the ball and his opponent off guard. He sends the ball whizzing by the audience at an incredible speed and lands in the corner of the opponents side. The score is now 50 — love and the game has been won.

Tennis is a popular sport and exists only with the abilities of strength, speed, and coordination. Returning players Damon Lou and Kurt Broeron performed well for the team during the season. Though the team struggled through many of it's matches, they did their best against the tough competition. "The Western League has some powerful teams and Kearny finds itself, in most instances, unable to be competitive," says Coach Webster. Even with this challenge, the tennis players showed that they had the qualities they needed to give their opponents a run for their money. Each player exhibits steady improvement. With next year's hopefuls Mike McMurray and Jerry Curmack, our tennis team looks towards a winning season.

▼ JUMPING for better height, Dawn Mayers demonstrates a perfect serve.

Samantha "Jane"

It has been a delightful experience knowing you since your kindergarden year. You have grown into a beautiful young lady. Best wishes for a happy and healthy future.

Norma Jackson

My dear Sammie.....

Remember when....

you were a lovely little tow-head who followed us everywhere.....

and you loved all the animals on our mini-farm.....

and ate oranges, peaches and tomatoes fresh from the source....

and played with Ruffy and Tork, the dogs ....

and Terry and Fritz, the cats.....????

We do...Love
Grandma and Grandpa

Samantha,
Growing up in this world is not easy. But you have grown to a beautiful young woman. Now that your adult life has begun remember, no matter how tough it gets, there is always three people who love you very much and will always be near you in all you do. We are very proud of you. God bless you.

Love with all our hearts,
Mom, Dad and Kenny

Jan

Samantha,
If you have faith in yourself and embrace positive attitude and creative energies, you can overcome fear and develop a sense of comfi-dence. Often when God brings pres-sure into our lives, His purpose is to give us more power. Lean on Him in the years to come and you will overcome all pressures and fears. congratulations on your graduation.

Love

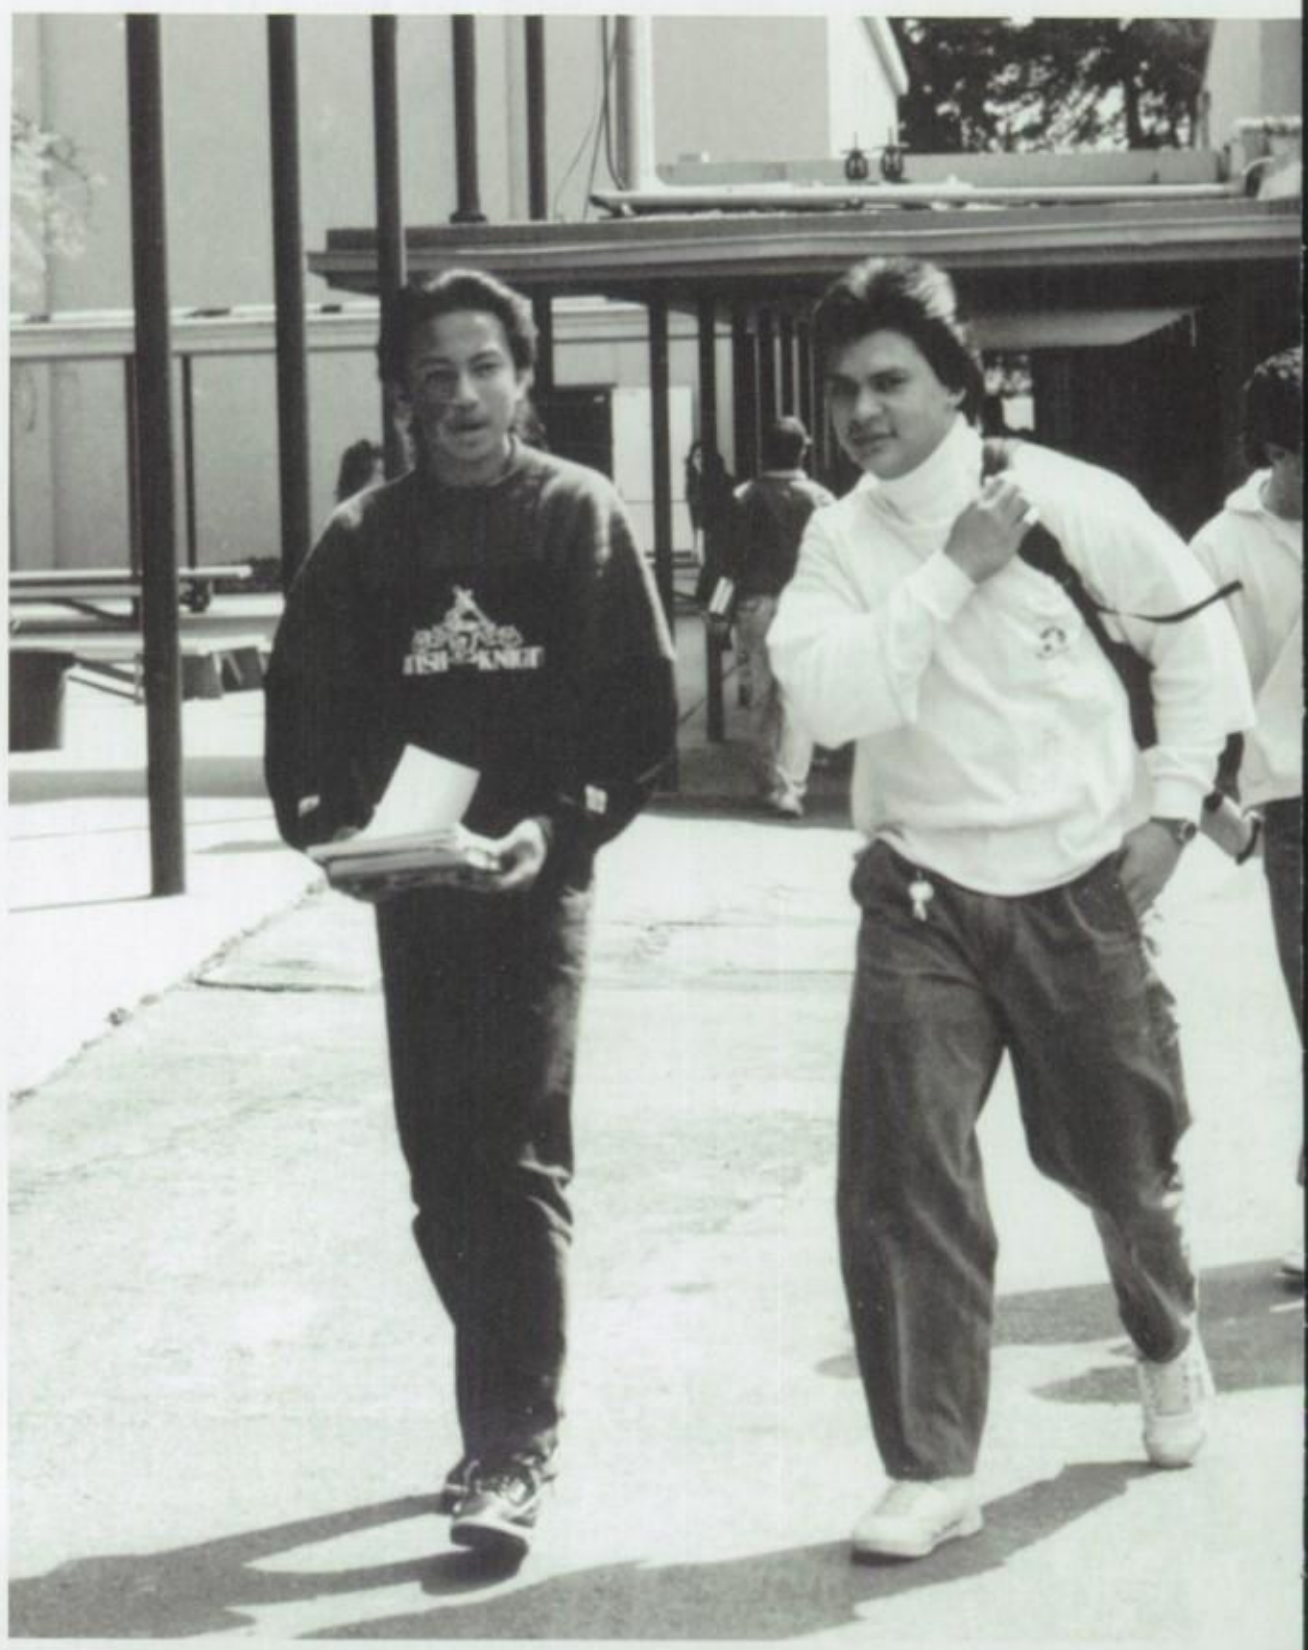
Once In A Lifetime

'Tick tock, Tick tock . . . ' "Where is he? I'm going to kill him if he's late. Why me? Why now, of all times? If I'm late to my own prom I'm going to be absolutely furious! I'll never speak to him again." "Honey, your date is here," screams your mother from the living room. "Oh my God, I look like a total wreck! How's my hair? How does my dress look? I'm going to have a nervous breakdown." "He better have gotten the limo, if not, there is no way I'm going in his Pinto. I'd be the laughing stock of the school." "Honey, your date is here!!!" you hear loud and clear from downstairs. "Yes mother, I'll be right down."

Sound familiar? If not, just wait . . . it will. You'll experience something like this sooner or later in life, or maybe you already have. Whatever the case, whether it's in the past or in the future, you'll undergo a similar situation. Though you're adventures may leave your heart racing and your mind in chaos at their occurence, you will reflect on them in the future as the best days of your life.

High school is a time to live life to the fullest. A time when your biggest worry is what you'll be doing on Saturday night. Many students can't wait to graduate and get out into the "real world." and once that happens you'll look back and realize, maybe high school wasn't so bad after all.



▶ LOOK EVERYONE, it's D.J. Branden Tintiangco and his sidekick Mike Anderson. Let's see if we could bother them for an autograph.

▶ DONDE ESTAMOS? Where are we? David Catillo and Carlos de Parias wonder as they walk through campus aimlessly.

◀ LISTENING INTENTIVELY, Diana Bailey tunes in on Marco Marshall's and Teresa Lewis' gossip session.

▼ ONE. TWO. ONE, TWO, THREE HIT IT. Didn't know Kearny had it's own Picnic Table Quartet, didja?
